Officer, Jailed After Shooting, Faces Court

WIFE ESCAPES HAIL OF SHOTS, SUMMONS HELP

Expected to Ask Probate Court to Send Patrolman Copper to State Institution.

SANITY TEST EXPECTED

Officer Believed Victim of Worries Over Finances, Delinquency Problem.

Patrolman Harry Copper, member of the Mansfield police force for nine years, was to be turned over to probate court authorities this afternoon, for a sanity hearing after he had threatened his wife and four children with his service revolver and fired six wild shots yesterday afternoon at his St. Clair street home.

Mrs. Copper appeared in probate court this morning, and it was expected that she would file a formal request this afternoon that her husband be sent to a state institution for the mentally unbalanced.

Mrs. Copper told the court her husband had been worried lately over financial affairs and to have been almost fanatical in his zeal for a solution of the child delinquency problem here.

Takes Officer's Badge.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates, who took Copper's badge and keys from him today, said he had questioned the patrolman this morning and that he seemed to remember only partially what had happened yesterday afternoon.

Although Bates had taken no formal action against Copper, who has been in jail since yesterday, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert today called the civil service commission for a list of men eligible for the police force, indicating that Copper would be removed from the force.

Fellow officers took Copper to jail after they were called by Mrs. Copper, who ran from the house amid a fusillade of shots. Although she would not discuss the matter today, it was learned that during an argument with her hus-

Children Throng White House Lawn For Egg Rolling

WASHINGTON—(AP)—An army of children marched on the White House today to scramble over the lawn with 100,000 Easter eggs—the biggest potential omelet in America.

"They make an awful mess," sighed head grounds-keeper William S. Reeves, "but they have a fine time."

White House policemen carefully watched their counting-machines, speculating whether the crowd would exceed last year's record of 53,180.

Admission was limited to children 10 years old and younger.

Exceptionally small children were allowed an adult companion.

Guards good-humoredly said they suspected the same old Easter egg rolling-racket was being worked by enterprising infants. This is accomplished by an unattached child "bootlegging" an unattached adult into the grounds.

"We know of one case," laughed a policeman, "where an out-of-town tourist offered a kid $1 to take him in as his father."

Easter Parade, Afoot and By Car, Biggest In Years

Weather Ideal, New Frocks and Corsages Provide Color for Banner Day; Attendance at City's Churches Sets Record.

The brightest of spring skies and a temperature of 71 brought out one of the largest "Easter parades" in years in Mansfield yesterday, and all signs of the recession remained indoors as new frocks and elegant corsages lent color to the day.

Churches were filled and many reported the largest attendance in years, at least one breaking all former attendance records. While much of the Easter parade was "motorized," there was opportunity to display new Easter outfits going to and from cars.

Men Vie in Colors.

There was a predominance of tailored suits in the parade, and men's outfits vied with feminine finery in the range of colors.

Florists sold more corsages this year than last year, and while gardenias, sweet peas and roses were preferred, the costly orchid, ranging in price from $4 to $8 each, was very much in evidence. One florist sold more orchids this year than last and was forced to call for additional supplies from Columbus and Cleveland.

Almost every church in Mansfield had special musical programs, cantatas or oratorios, with Easter themes. And all were well attended.

Indicative of church and Sunday school attendance over the city are the figures from First Lutheran and St. John's Evangelical and Reformed churches. St. John's Sunday school attendance was 951, the largest in its history, and a combined church and school collection of $1,250.

At First Lutheran there were 1,662 present for Sunday school and 1,661 for the church service, enabling the church to win an attendance contest with the Emanuel Lutheran congregation at Pottstown, Pa., which covered the Lenten period. The Mansfield church, trailing in attendance throughout the period, emerged the victor by 163 on the total because of the large turnout at services yesterday. Pottstown had a Sunday school attendance of 1,474.

BOY, 3, KILLED HUNTING EGGS

Rack Holding Nest in Chicken Coop Breaks; Mansfield Kin Finds Body.

MT. VERNON—Struck under the chin by a falling chicken coop rack as he was hunting eggs Sunday afternoon at the farm home of his parents, two miles north of Utica, William Heald, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Heald, died as the result of a broken neck.

The child was climbing a rack in the chicken coop to get to the nest, when it is believed that the rack broke loose, striking him under the chin and throwing his head back with such force as to break his neck.

Dr. C. L. Harmer, Knox county coroner, gave a verdict of accidental death. The only mark on the child's body was found under the chin, Dr. Harmer said.

The boy's body was found by an uncle, Lee Heald of Mansfield, after the parents became alarmed at his long absence. Funeral services are incomplete.

DI MAGGIO READY

Yank Hold-out Will Accept $25,000, Paper Says.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Sun said today that Joe Di Maggio, holdout outfielder of the New York Yankees, would accept Jacob Ruppert's offer of $25,000 some time during the day.

The newspaper said it had learned that Di Maggio, who has been asking $40,000 for his services in 1938, had decided that he could not hope to get Ruppert to boost his offer.

Ruppert claimed he knew nothing whatever about the report.

"Even if Di Maggio does sign," the irate Yankee owner said, "he'll lose $162 a day from his salary until he reports to the club. I don't like this business."

Under baseball rules, Di Maggio must come to terms today or suffer automatic suspension.

4 HURT HERE IN EASTER TRAFFIC

County Escapes Fatalities as Nine Die in State; Morrow County Woman Killed.

Despite heavy Easter traffic on major highways over the weekend, which claimed at least nine lives in Ohio, Mansfield and Richland county escaped without a fatality and reported only four persons injured, none seriously.

Nearby Morrow county, however, had its first traffic fatality of the year when Mrs. Minnie Stormer was killed at Fulton, near Mt. Gilead, when an ice truck backed over her.

Mrs. Stormer died instantly at 4 p. m. Saturday when her chest was crushed by a truck driven by Elbert Albright of Mt. Gilead, who said he did not see her as she stood at the rear of the truck.

Funeral services for Mrs. Stormer were held at 2 p. m. today at the Fulton M. E. church with Rev. N. N. Weyrick officiating. Burial will be in the Fulton cemetery.

When their automobile was struck by an ambulance from the Heyl Funeral home, Ashland, Marion Hannon, 20, and Donald Malone, 23, both of Springfield, were fatally injured late Saturday on U. S. route 40 east of Springfield.

HUNT MISSING CARNEGIE KIN

Searchers Fear Executive's Plane Crashed In Ocean.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Coast guard boats searched off Long Island shores today for signs of an airplane in which Andrew Carnegie Whitfield, 28, nephew of the late Andrew Carnegie, vanished mysteriouely last Friday night.

Fear grew that Whitfield, an accomplished aviator, had wrecked in the Atlantic ocean.

The young business executive disappeared on a routine flight from Rosevelt Field to Brentwood, Long Island, less than 40 miles away.

City To Join In Celebration of Air Mail's 20th Anniversary

Mansfield will join in the nation-wide celebration of the 20th anniversary of the air mail service May 15-21, Postmaster Herman E. Homeberger announced today.

Committees to conduct the celebration here will be named in a few days, Homeberger said.

At the same time Mayor Claude M. Hunter issued a proclamation designating the week of May 15 as air mail week in Mansfield.

Homeberger also announced that poster and essay contests for school children will be held in connection with Air Mail Week.

The poster contest is open to pupils in grade and grammar schools. Entries are limited to 20 by 25 inches in size and must relate to the air mail service of the present and future, and its adaptability to the needs of the nation.

The essays should deal with the ideas, purposes and advantages of air transportation as it effects modern communication and are limited to 250 words. The subject is "Wings Across America. This contest is open to high school students only.

An air trip to Washington and return will be awarded to the prize winner in the state essay contest. The national winner will receive a five-day round trip by air, with all expenses paid to Hollywood, Calif.

Both contests close May 1, and entries should be addressed to the State Chairman, National Air Mail Week Essay or Poster Contest, in care of Postmaster Herman E. Homberger.

Homberger said that entry blanks can be obtained at the various schools throughout the county.

He explained that along with the celebration of Air Mail Week here tentative plans call for the enlistment of several private pilots to fly airmail between Mansfield and other Ohio cities on the regular mail routes.

ARREST 1,600 IN RUMANIAN FASCIST PLOT

Coup to Overthrow King Carol, Establish Dictator Broken, Government Says.

SEIZE ARMS SUPPLIES

Police Jail Alleged Leader of Conspiracy; Circulars Lead to Arrests.

(By United Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania — A plot to overthrow King Carol II and establish Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, chief of the near-Nazi, anti-semitic iron guards, as dictator, has been broken, the government announced today.

Codreanu, described as the most "virulent anti-semite in Europe," and at least 1600 of his followers were in jail. There were indications that others would be arrested.

Find Arms Stores.

It was understood that all would be charged with plotting an armed march on Bucharest to establish a Fascist dictatorship. A government communique, announcing the arrests, also said that stores of arms had been discovered.

It was learned that the first indication of the planned coup d'etat was in the discovery of a number of circulars which headquarters of the dissolved iron guards mailed to leaders throughout the country. The government said that police found that the iron guards, despite their dissolution, had continued their activities but that "the work of agitators met with no response from the majority of the population."

Codreanu dissolved his "all for fatherland" organization in February after King Carol in a proclamation abolished political parties. But he was frank in saying he desired to help clear the way for a German march into the Ukraine.

Police Raid Homes.

Seizure of the circulators was followed by police raids on the homes of suspected iron guard members throughout the nation. The circulars were not published, but it was learned that the iron guards were told to be ready "for a march on Bucharest" and to take action "against the people whose brains are dried up." There also were open threats against Patriarch Miron Christea, the premier.

OPPOSES TAFT

Judge Day Says He'll Seek U. S. Senate Nomination.

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Judge Arthur H. Day of Cleveland, member of the Ohio supreme court, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, opposing Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati lawyer and son of the late president and chief justice.

Judge Day said he was opposed to policies of the Roosevelt administration which he contended "clearly tend toward centralization of all power in a single individual and result in dictatorship."

He said that Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic incumbent, has "consistently failed to represent the views of his constituents and has publicly declared his purpose to support the president on all issues."

Judge Day, 48 years old, was elected to the supreme court in 1934, receiving the highest percentage vote cast in the election.

City Becomes Track Capital With Relays Here This Week

This is the week Mansfield becomes the track capital of the nation.

It is Relays Week, and in anticipation of the greatest number of entries ever received for the event, the city today was making ready for the pretentious track and field carnival to be staged at Stadium field Saturday.

Virtually all of the outstanding schoolboy track and field athletes of Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York will display their wares in the 12th running of the major independent meet that has earned nation-wide prestige.

Sixty-four schools have already filed entries and Director Harry Mehock expects the entry list to break the record of 71 set in 1932 when Jesse Owens stole the show with three record-breaking achievements.

More out-of-state schools than ever will be on hand this year to compete in the athletic circus.

New York will be represented for the first time by Nott Terrace High of Schenectady, and Michigan and Pennsylvania will send big delegations.

With all of the outstanding track men of this sector of the nation entered, a number of records are expected to be toppled Saturday, weather permitting.

Judging from the increased interest manifest in the event, the attendance record also is likely to be erased this year.

A campaign to spur the ticket sale for the affair was inaugurated today by students of Senior high and Simpson Junior high, Dr. W. E. Wygant, chairman of the Relays Citizens' committee, announced. Ticket prices have been set at 40 cents for adults, 15 cents for Senior and Junior high students and 10 cents for grade school students.

Trials will be held at 10 a. m. with the finals getting under way at 2 p. m.

Athletes from distant schools are expected Friday, with the bulk of the contestants arriving early Saturday. Teams arriving Friday will be housed at the high school and private homes.

A blank will be found on Page 3 of today's News-Journal for use of persons who can provide lodging for visiting athletes. The blanks are to be sent to Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. who is chairman of the Relays housing committee.

FLEE 50 HOMES

Residents Menaced as Heavy Rains Flood Ohio Streams.

JACKSON — (INS) — Torrential rains flooded tributaries of Little Salt Creek early today forcing more than 50 families to flee their homes and take refuge on higher ground.

The streams roared over their banks filling houses and overturning outbuildings. At dawn the waters had receded leaving large deposits of mud and debris in the homes of many families.

Lend-Spend Plan Draws G.O.P. Blast

Republicans Start Attack On Recovery Program In Strategy Shift.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Republicans took the lead today in denouncing President Roosevelt's $4,500,000,000 relief recovery program, apparently giving up the strategy by which they sometimes let anti-New Deal Democrats direct the assaults on administration measures.

Republican Chairman John Hamilton and Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) criticized the huge "pump-priming" proposals as unsound in radio speeches last night.

Their outspoken opposition was in contrast to Republican tactics during the supreme court fight, when Vandenberg wrote a lengthy speech but never delivered it. In the recent government reorganization fight, congressional Republicans again left the generalship of the attack to Democrats.

Predicting Victory.

Administration leaders, however, predicted only a smattering of votes would be cast against the president's economic recommendations, on which hearings will begin Wednesday.

The legislation, now being drafted, was a major topic for Mr. Roosevelt's weekly conference with his congressional lieutenants late this morning.

Chairman Hamilton, replying to the president's "fireside chat," declared Mr. Roosevelt was more interested in "priming the polls" for the November congressional elections than in "priming the pumps of recovery."

National security, Hamilton said, can not be based on "profligate spending." He cited $40,000,000,000 of federal expenditures during five years of the Roosevelt administration in support of his contention.

He asserted the administration had chosen a "do nothing" program for the last seven months, and declared the officers of the ship of state "sulked in their cabins," ignoring Republican demands for abandonment of "economic heresies" which had paralyzed business.

Hits Credit Aim.

Turning to what he called the the president's "sudden reversion

FACES CHARGE

President of State Barbers' Board Accused of Blackmail.

CLEVELAND — (AP)— Benjamin Bontempo, president of the state board of barber examiners, was charged with blackmail today in an alleged scheme to force barbers to join a union.

Bontempo, a Cleveland man, was charged with accusing Joseph Morano, a barber here, of violating state and city sanitary laws with the intention of compelling him to join the Master Barbers' association, a union of employers. Bontempo formerly was secretary of the Cleveland Master Barbers' association.

Police Capt. John Savage said "other cases" of asserted intimidation were under investigation.

FREES PENSION ADVOCATE OF 30-DAY TERM

Executive Order Issued Soon After Physician Surrenders to U. S. Marshal.

CONTEMPT CASE REVIEWED

President Notes Chairman of House Committee Advocated Pardon Action.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt today pardoned Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension advocate under 30-day jail sentence on conviction of contempt of a house committee.

The presidential pardon for the aged pensions advocate was issued by the White House a few minutes after Townsend surrendered to a U. S. marshal to begin his jail sentence.

Townsend hailed the pardon as a "complete vindication."

"The president, as spokesman for congress," he said, "has performed an act of contrition in acknowledging my mistreatment."

He said he would return immediately to Los Angeles.

Series of Appeals Made.

It followed a series of congressional appeals that the White House intervene and grant clemency to the 71-year-old California physician.

The presidential pardon was announced by the White House less than 20 minutes after Townsend, accompanied by his attorneys, had arrived at U. S. district court and surrendered to U. S. Marshal John Colpoys.

In issuing the order for executive clemency, the White House made public a summary of the Townsend case, reviewing the incident from which his contempt conviction arose.

The action started when Townsend, under subpena to testify before a house pensions investigating committee, stalked out of the committee chamber in the midst of his examination.

Federal prosecution of Townsend resulted in his conviction and sentence to 30 days in jail and $100 fine for contempt of the committee. A week ago the U. S. supreme court declined to consider an appeal by Townsend.

Recommended Clemency.

The White House noted that among those who had recommended clemency were Rep. C. Jasper Bell, D., Mo., chairman of the house committee which Townsend defied. The aged pension advocate had said he left the investigation

Injunction Ties Up Prize Money In Bowling Event

More than $1,000 in prize money due winners in the national Moose Bowling tournament held in Mansfield last month was tied up today in a common pleas court injunction obtained by Edwin L. Slagle, Ft. Wayne, Ind., who contends that officers of the tournament deprived him of first prize awards which he contends he won.

The injunction order was granted by Judge C. H. Huston against Donald D. Renner, secretary; Fred Berry, treasurer, and H. H. Foland, president of the Moose tournament association, and the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, where the prize money is on deposit.

The injunction covers a period until Slagle can apply to the American Bowling congress to establish his standing in the Mansfield tourney. He contends he won first place in the all-events, doubles and singles during the competition which was held for four consecutive week-ends in March.

Local bowling authorities explained that the tournament was conducted on a handicap basis, and because Slagle had not bowled in league competition for several years, he had no league average and was not entitled to a handicap. They added, however, that he sought the full handicap of 45 pins per game, contrary to tournament rules.

The injunction prohibits the payment of awards until Slagle's petition has been heard by the court.

He is represented in his suit by Attys. Chester L. Teeter of Ft Wayne and Arden W. Wisman of Bucyrus.

Pope Openly Sanctions Insurgent Objective In Spain

'DIVINE FAVOR' EXPRESSED IN VATICAN NOTE

Pontiff, Stricken at Easter Rites, Recovers; 300,000 Receive Blessing.

(By International News Service)

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius XI today formally bestowed the apostolic benediction on Generalissimo Francisco Franco and invoked "divine favor" for the insurgent cause in Spain.

Replying to a message from Franco in which the latter thanked the pontiff for yesterday's beatification of Salvatore Da Horta, sixteenth century Spanish monk and miracle worker, his holiness said:

"We rejoice to hear vibrate in your excellency's message the high faith of Catholic Spain. We send from the bottom of our heart a message propitious of divine favor and the apostolic benediction.

First Open Sanctioning.

The exchange marked the first time the pontiff had openly sanctioned Franco's cause and struck a new note in the Diplomacy of the Holy See.

Condition of the 81-year-old pope, who collapsed from fatigue during the long Easter services in St. Peter's, today was reported as satisfactory.

Dr. Aminta Milani, who nursed the pontiff through his grave illness last year, examined him frequently. No visitors were permitted in the papal apartments.

Exhausted by the three-hour ceremony for canonization of three new saints, the pontiff was forced to retire to a hospital room in the Vatican for 40 minutes.

But the pope rallied dramatically and made his scheduled appearance on the balcony, where he blessed the multitude of 300,000 below, and all the world.

MAPS SWIFT CAPTURE

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier — (U.P.) — Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish nationalist leader, has landed a large force at Vinaroz to aid in a plan to conquer the entire Ebro delta region within a few days, it was disclosed today.

The troops were sent from the Balearics islands under convoy of warships. The islands have been an important base for Italian airplane units, but a nationalist communique radioed from Salanmaca said that the reinforcing troops were Moroccans, presumably sent there to await the nationalist drive to the coast.

No Break Between Garner, Roosevelt, White House Says

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The White House insisted today that there had been no "break" between President Roosevelt and Vice President John N. Garner.

"Lots of people are trying to make a break," Secretary Stephen T. Early said in response to a direct question on the subject, "but the president has denied it and I stand with him."

Early recalled last week's press conference at which Mr. Roosevelt categorically denied that he and the vice president were at the parting of the ways on matters of government policy.

However, White House sources indicated that there might be some honest differences of opinion between the two. One administration official who declined to let his name be used said:

"But you will never find Jack and the boss breaking."

Mansfield is enjoying a hearty after-Easter laugh today. And not because of the feminine hats it saw paraded Sunday, either. The city is laughing with the "Laughing Man," a mechanized "Charley McCarthy" located in the display window of a North Main street jewelry store. He leaves out a healthy chuckle every minute, and the artificial laugh is contagious judging from the mirth aroused among those it attracts.

$1,100 BLAZE HITS 2 STORES

Dairy Outlet and Restaurant Damaged in Easter Sunday Fire; Origin Mystery.

Fire of an undetermined origin, last night swept through the second floor of the business block at 58-60 West Fourth street, causing damage estimated at $1,100 to two business establishments.

Offiicals of the Isaly Dairy company today estimated damage by fire and water to their storeroom at $1,000, while C. C. Bemiller, proprietor of the Hamburger Inn said that damage to his store from water would amount to approximately $100.

The blaze, which was confined to the second floor storeroom at the Isaly store, was discovered shortly after 8 p. m. by Foster Sterner, manager, after employes reported smoke seeping through the ceiling.

Firemen from companies No. 1 and No. 2, under the direction of Capt. Leo T. Saltzgaber, fought the blaze, which was confined to the rear of the building, for about a half hour.

Hundreds of Sunday night theater-goers and motorists were attracted to the scene and i was more than an hour before police could clear traffic on the street.

Officials of the Isaly Dairy company said that approximately $500 worth of paper stock which was stored in the second floor room was destroyed by fire and water. They estimated the damage to the building of another $500.

Bemiller said that the only damage to the Hamburger Inn, was the result of water which had come through the ceiling into the kitchen. Both stores were operating today.

COLUMBUS WALKS TO WORK AS STREET CAR STRIKE CONTINUES

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Negotiations to end a strike of street car and motor bus operators were mired in an impasse today—and thousands of office and factory employes walked or thumbed a ride to work.

Staunchly defending their stands, carmen's union and officials of the Columbus & Southern Electric company, operators of the transportation system, refused to alter demands that brought on the shutdown at midnight Saturday.

Ben W. Marr, president of the utility, said all equipment had been ordered left in the barns, but strikers called a mass meeting in the early morning for a "demonstration" should restoration of service be attempted.

From the meeting hall of the Federation of Labor, the strikers were sent in groups of 10 to 25 to four major car barns. No picket lines were set up but union representatives button-holed nonstrikers as they reported for work.

There was no disorder as partial crews were registered at each barn. Foremen estimated that one-fourth to one-half the regular number of employers reported. They declined to say whether any movement of trolleys or buses was contemplated during the day but all usual activities within the barns and shops were at a standstill.

Inside the barns, employes engaged in card games as they awaited orders.

The possibility of federal intervention was seen when Hugh D. Friel, U. S. department of labor conciliator, announced here he had been instructed to offer his services.

Marr said the utility could not, under present business conditions, grant a demanded wage increase to 62 and 75 cents an hour.

BARITONE WINS

Clevelander Victor in Talent Quest Competition.

Robert Coper, Cleveland baritone, won first place in the Northern Ohio talent quest which came to an end Saturday night at the Variety theater in Cleveland.

He was judged the best of the six district winners which included a trio of Mansfield girls. The Three Graces Notes, Jane Weuthrich, Dorothy Clingan and Ruth Cox, accompanied by Genevieve Howell, won the Mansfield district contest and appeared with the talent quest unit in six Ohio theaters last week.

In announcing the winner Saturday night a talent scout of National Broadcasting company from New York City said Coper was selected because he had the best radio and screen possibilities of the group. He will be taken to New York City for tests at NBC studios in Radio City and at Warner Brothers eastern studio.

The News-Journal, NBC and Warners sponsored the talent quest in this district.

Japan Rushes More Troops to Southern Shantung Sector for Crucial Battle.

(By International News Service)

SHANGHAI—Two of the mightiest armies ever assembled in the orient today began moving into position for a titanic struggle in southern Shantung province.

Both China and Japan sped reinforcements to the front, and some reports estimated that a million Chinese would face half that many Japanese.

Japan, badly beaten in that sector in the last week, suddenly launched a big offensive against Chinese lines in the vicinity of Linyi today, and heavy fighting followed. Chinese commanders rushed more men to Yinyi.

The Japanese were still embattled at Yihsien and Tshochwang, where the positions were unchanged. Unable to dislodge the 10,000 Japanese who are surrounded in the walled city of Yihsien, 40 miles northeast of Suchow, the Chinese planned to starve them out.

Need Food Supplies.

The Japanese have been cut off from supplies of food and ammunition for several days. Efforts to drop food from airplanes were largely unsuccessful, some of the packages falling into Chinese hands.

Intense aerial bombardment of railroad bridges west of Hong Kong by the Japanese has cut off rail communications between Canton and Hong Kong.

Canton itself and Hankow were also raided with a large loss of life.

A sensation was caused in Hong Kong by what appeared to be an attempt on the life of T. V. Soong, former finance minister, and brother of Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek.

Several mail bags exploded in the Hong Kong post office. Consigned for Shanghai, the bags would have been put aboard a plane which Soong planned to take. When the plane did not depart, the bags were left lying in the post office.

PRESENT PLAY

FAIR ENOUGH!

Anyway, Whitney Pays Back His Debt to Society At Rate of $823 a Minute

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Assuming that Richard Whitney serves the minimum term of three years and four months in Sing Sing, and further assuming that his thefts amounted to the round sum of $1,000,000, his per diem rate of expiation will be $823 and some cents. Thus, even in prison, Whitney will remain in the upper brackets—an aristocrat by comparison with those felons of coarser grain whose punishment was adjusted to the method rather than to the amount of their stealings.

He will not be required to pay any income tax on this, but a man of his mentality might console himself through some of the lonely hours reckoning the amount that he would have to pay if the earnings were positive instead of negative. Men in prison fall into the habit of doing mental arithmetic. They think in terms of minutes, hours, months and years. It helps to pass the time.

Most men whose scores runs as high as Whitney's are able to use the money they stole to beat the rap, and it may be that he will have the highest return per hour of all the men in Sing Sing. Some economist of the Harold Ickes' school might reduce the matter to statistics and figure that one prisoner, Mr. Whitney, pays off his debt to society at a rate equal to the combined daily write-off of 60 per cent of his fellow-inmates.

One editorial on the Whitney case said that it was a story without a moral, but that seems to be a hasty statement. The moral plainly is:—the law hates a piker.

There was a small item about two years ago—out at Springfield, Mo., I believe—telling of the unfortunate technicality which cropped up in the case of two hungry boys who were on the bum and broke into a carload of oranges on a siding. The value of their loot was trifling, and they would have been given nothing worse than a few days in the local jail but for the alertness of a prosecutor, who discerned a more serious offense in their simple theft of stealing somes oranges, not to sell, but to eat because they were hungry. They had tampered with interstate commerce and, although I am hazy as to the details, it is my recollection that the item said they got two years.

I have a keener memory of another case in Iowa in which a young taxi-driver, accused of robbing a passenger of a few dollars, pleaded guilty in the belief that he would be paroled from the bench. The judge had looked into his record, and because he was a first offender, had promised to do this. The boy had been promised a job and was all set to start over. But in court that day, when the young man gave his age, the judge looked startled and pained and said he had understood him to be a few months younger. He had the power to parole first offenders whose crimes were committed before a certain birthday, but under the circumstances, considering the plea of guilty and the true age of the prisoner, he had to break the bargain and send him to prison for a term of years.

They had a tough parole board in Iowa—composed of politicians, of course. I have no idea that that board was sentimental about the young hackman who went to prison contrary to the court's own promise because he had mistimed his crime by a couple of month's.

The financier and the murderer seem to have all the advantage in our courts Of all the great roll of widow-and-orphan robbers of the era of wonderful nonsense, only one went to prison and he a mere second varsity thief, and for a short term at that.

In New York and New Jersey in the last couple of years three ladies who were, as the saying goes, guilty as hell of willful murder were acquitted, and in California lately a man went free after killing his wife and his best friend because, to hear him tell it, he saw a white flame.

Mr. Whitney has been away less than a week, but has paid off several dollars of his debt to society already, while other men have been able to retire only a few nickles of theirs.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Along with a jungle thriller called "Booloo" Clyde Elliott has brought back a professional bouquet to Dorothy Lamour: In Singapore no movie star is more popular.

Throughout the Malayan peninsula it is Lamour, toujours Lamour. "The Jungle Princess" and other films with Malayan settings have helped. Part of the fun is to pick the technical errors in Hollywood's jungles, and in Hollywood's Malayan speech. But it is good-natured fun, and only enhances the Lamour popularity Elliott has the Sultan of Johore's assurance that he will be in Hollywood to attend the preview of "Booloo" The sultan, of course, may also meet (as long as he's here) the lady of the sarong. Lamour was not a movie star on the sultan's last visit.

"Booloo" is Malayan for "fur and feathers." Elliott and company have been in the big heat, about 400 miles north of Singapore, for the past nine months making it. Elliott is a quiet, un-Hollywooden fellow who goes off on trips like this and comes back with authentic jungle stuff on celluloid. His last expedition resulted in the very successful "Devil Tiger." This trip also was inspired by a tiger—the white tiger of the region This albino cat—really white, not painted—is the animal that, in the film story, sets a British scientist on the adventurous trail.

But before they get to the tiger, and afterwards, the yarn makes use of wild buffaloes, a 26-foot python, wild elephants and assorted undomesticated fauna. The gentleman involved with these jungle creatures is Colin Tapley, a pleasant young New Zealander who has been around Hollywood under contract five years but had to go to the jungle for his first leading role.

One of Colin's little scenes had him lassoing a baby buffalo while swimming in a stream with a herd of them, babies and grown-ups. Even the babies have horns. Not a cowboy, Tapley had been instructed in lariat-tossing, so while the cameras ground he went to work. He insists modestly that it couldn't happen again in a million years, but he lassoed two instead of one. Tapley was surprised at getting two: he was amazed at getting any. After the two babies had dragged him to shore, rather cut and bruised, he secured his rope around a tree. Then one of the infants got loose and Mr. Tapley was slightly gored in the thigh.

The sound man, however, had the neatest adventure of all. That 26-foot python sank his fangs in the mike-man's arm, began coiling around his body. It took the rest of the crew 15 minutes to pry him loose. The victim went to the hospital, but the python pursued his career as a movie star.

There was also a bit of a skirmish with a wild bull elephant, and a flood to put the recent Southern California deluge to shame, and then there was the heat, equatorial, humid and best described by Tapley: "Just sweat, sweat, sweat!"

So if "Booloo" doesn't strike you as realistic, rest assured just the same: not a foot of it was shot in Hollywood.

The leading lady is a Javanese actress named Suratna Asmara. In the picture also are 41 relatives of Suratna, whose family loyalty is all that stood between her and a Hollywood career. She wanted to come, says Elliott, but wouldn't unless the 41 were brought along. And 41 is a large order of relatives, even for Hollywood.

Notice, Yankees

Cleveland Looks Like Good Bet to Step Into Title If You Bog Down.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

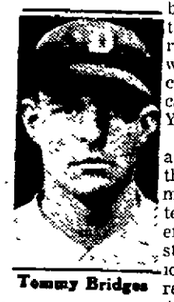
MARK this down as a prediction. Cleveland will be the New York Yankees' chief rival for the American league pennant.

The Indians have been listed as dangerous contenders for many years, but, for some reason or other, they bog down regularly.

This year stands out as the year for Os' Vitt and his tribal warriors to make more of a determined bid for the championship than in any recent season

Rivals Weakened.

Not because the League park residents are vastly improved, but for the fact that the other rivals have been weakened, including the so-called peerless Yankees.



Tommy Bridges

Cleveland has a weakness in the infield that may prove disasterous, but, otherwise, the club stacks up superior to any to represent the Ohio American league city since 1920, the championship year.

New York will miss Holdout Joe DiMaggio until he signs and the mound staff must show some improvement over spring performances. It is also feared that the defending champions will miss Tony Lazzeri, a steadying influence in the inner cordon last year.

With Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges questions marks, the prospects of the Detroit club are doubtful. The loss of "Gee" Walker from the outfield may be keenly felt

Chicago cannot expect to be a serious factor with Luke Appling on the sidelines with a broken leg, and the present loss of Pitcher Monte Stratton may have its affect

None of the other clubs appear dangerous outside of the Boston Red Sox, and they have to overcome the listless complex that has marred their play during past seasons

Yankees Picked.

It would be foolish to pick anybody by the Yankees with all their power to repeat, but if there should be a letdown, look to the Indians to jump in front

So, in conclusion of this brief summary, we pick the American league race to end something like this: New York 1, Cleveland, 2, Detroit, 3; Boston, 4; Washington, 5, Chicago 6; Philadelphia, 7; St Louis, 8

And, without comment, the predicted National league finish: Chicago 1, New York, 2; Pittsburgh, 3 St. Louis 4; Cincinnati 5; Philadelphia, 6, Brooklyn, 7, Boston, 8.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK—(U P)—The major league baseball season opens today. President Roosevelt will toss in the first ball at one game, and the mighty New York Yankees launch their campaign for a third straight world's championship, in another.

Tomorrow all 16 teams will go into action on eight fronts. Today's schedule sends the Philadelphia Athletics against the Washington Senators and the Yankees play the Boston Red Sox at Boston.

In addition to the usual first day enthusiasm, today's opening has the historical significance of marking 100 years of baseball for it was in 1839 at Cooperstown, N. Y., that Abner Doubleday laid out the first baseball diamond.

Fan interest soared to almost unprecedented heights on a last-minute St. Louis Cardinals-Chicago Cubs deal which may upset the balance of power in the National league. Acquisition of Dizzy Dean, one of the greatest pitchers in diamond annals, has projected the Cubs into the favorite's role.

With Dean, a potential 20-game winner, heading Chicago's pitching staff, Jack Doyle, Broadway betting commissioner, quoted the Cubs 3-2 favorite to win the flag. The Giants, who had held the favorite's spot at 8-5, dropped to second choice at the same price. The Cardinals' odds changed from 3-1 to 4-1; Pittsburgh's price was trimmed from 6-1 to 5-1.

Mansfield Bowlers Fail To Dent Inter-city Standings

MANSFIELD bowlers failed to make much of a dent in the standings of the Inter-City tournament in Alliance over the week-end. The home town bowlers cut a swath in the prize money with some fine scoring, but they did not threaten the leaders in any of the divisions.

Cuemen Lead Teams.

The Willis Billiards led the five-man scoring with 2866, compiled from games of 891, 1017 and 958, with the Metcalf Pure Oils second high with 2760

The Mansfield Printers spilled 2691 pins, and the Miller Oldsmobiles failed to approach their A. B. C. total as they shot a weak 2612. The Heilman Canfield Oils toppled 2593 sticks

Led by Jimmy Weems' brilliant 644, which he closed with a 265 game, the South Plant Hot Mills of the Empire plant rolled a 2681 in the Booster division. The Liederkranz club hung up a 2436.

The only 1200 total rolled by the doubles combinations was shot by Farrell Hipp and Art Thomas, who rung up a 1242 count. This pair finished its string with a mighty 481 game to which Thomas contributed a 245 and Hipp a 236. They had other games of 355 and 406

Thomas finished well up in the all-events with an 1862 total. He rolled 584 in the five-man, 666 in the doubles and 612 in the singles.

High In Singles.

Leland Stock led the Mansfield delegation in the singles with a smart 654. Hipp, who opened with a 268, hung up a 647, and Earl Robertson pounded out a 637 after getting off to a good start with a 257 Joe Daum shot a 633.

Thomas started with a 258 in the singles as he rolled a 612. Other 600 scores: Geiger, 621; Craig, 618 Grable, 610; Arntz, 608. Weber, 606.

Dean Changes Race Outlook

Cubs Now Favorites In National League Race.

CHICAGO — (U P) — One man — Dizzy Dean—changed the entire National league pennant outlook today and established the Chicago Cubs as a new favorite in the 1938 campaign.

Dean a Cub after six colorful, stormy seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, shifted the balance from the Cards and New York Giants directly to the Cubs, who badly needed new blood to prevent another fatal August slump.

Dean summed it up for himself: "My reason for picking the Cardinals to win the pennant is with the Cubs now."

It took three players and between $100,000 and $150,000 in cash to transfer the star hurler to Chicago Owner Phil K. Wrigley closed the deal Saturday night in a long distance telephone conversation with Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals.

Indians Drop Finale To Giants, 5-3

THE INDIANS, who open their season Tuesday in the Stadium with Johnny Allen on the mound, closed their spring series with the New York Giants yesterday before half-filled League park

Bill Terry's Giants registered their ninth victory in the 16 games yesterday by a 5 to 3 count to sweep the week-end series at League park Bob Feller was the victim Saturday

All of the Indians runs and four of the Giants' were unearned. In the first inning Ken Keltner let a slow roller go by him and the Giants scored two runs and in the third Mel Harder missed a hit through the box and Moose Solters misjudged a long fly. New York got two more runs.

The other run was the result of Carl Hubbell's double and Jimmy Ripple's single All the Tribe's runs were the result of a couple of fumbles by Dick Bartell in the third

Both Harder and Hubbell were in first rate form, as were relief pitchers. Earl Whitehill and Walter Brown.

Jock Collins Two Over Par

Shoots 74 to Lead Scoring Over Week-End.

Old man par failed to take the beating expected when Mansfield golfers officially opened the season last week-end.

Only one of the 200-odd shotmakers who toured Westbrook Country club and Coolridge Country club Saturday and Sunday was able to make a dime in par.

Jock Collins, Westbrook pro, toured the 18-hole layout in 40-34-74. He was four over par on the first nine, but slashed two strokes off coming in. Par at Westbrook is 72.

Three other Westbrook players broke 80 Sunday. They were Bob Moorhead, Howard Sotzen and Chuck Walters Each collected a 78 . . . Ed Eisele scored an 84 . . . Paul Auxter registered an 88 . . . and Paul Cropper finished with a 97

At Coolridge, Tony Schadek and Bill McBride accounted for the best nine-hole totals Both shot 41's . . Other nine-hole totals. Frank Warga, 45, Hamilton, 46; Joe Schuff, 47, and Jake Gutschall, 48 F. Schwaner led the golfers over 18-holes. He came in with a 94 . . While Al Schwaner trailed with 96.

Hangs up Record

Linta Scales Vaulting Bar at 12 Feet, 9 Inches as Streaks Lose Meet.

By CHARLES MARTIN

HARRY MEHOCK'S flashy Red Streaks may not be able to score enough points to win the Mansfield Relays championship at Stadium field Saturday, but it is not likely that the home town entry will go scoreless.

John Linta is the athlete Mehock is depending on to collect some points for the Streaks in the big track and field carnival.

Sets Field Record.

Linto served notice on his pole vaulting rivals Saturday when he scaled the bar at 12 feet, nine inches to establish a new Stadium field record as the Streaks fell before Columbus North, 67¼ to 50¾.

One of the outstanding schoolboy vaulting experts in the mid-west. Linta, only a junior, is the defending Relays champion. He also showed he was able to account for himself in the track events by copping the low hurdles in 26 3 seconds.

But there also was some gloom in the Mansfield camp, George Bibbs, a promising hurdler, suffered a broken left wrist in the high barriers in a spill at the first hurdle, and is out for the rest of the season.

Elmer Dials was injured in the high jump, and is not expected to be able to participate in the Relays. He dislocated a knee.

The Capital City aggregation annexed eight of the 14 events. But the Streaks put up a real fight before bowing out of the picture.

The mile relay proved to be one of the best track events on the card. Columbus shot into an early lead and it looked like Mansfield didn't have a chance.

Rose Again Stars.

Then little Don Rose, a promising quarter-miler, took over the baton in the third lap, trailing by 20 yards. And when he came in for the final lap he had pulled up even, but McMullen was unable to overtake Jones of Columbus in the final lap, losing out in a thrilling finish The time was 3 minutes, 41 seconds

Ike Smith of Mansfield won the 880-yard relay with a brilliant last-lap spurt to edge out Columbus by five feet.

100-yd dash—Won by Logan, M., Smith, M., second; Hatfield C., third Time 10 7 sec

Shot put—Won by Denton C; Nagle M second; Gallagher, M., third. Distance 40 ft. 11 in

Fights At Y

Pictured above is Bud Sturzinger, a former Sandusky high school football star, who will appear in the Junior Association of Commerce A. A U. boxing tournament to get under way at the Y. M. C A. at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

A light-heavyweight, Sturzinger played with Sandusky in 1934 and 1935, and is also an outstanding baseball star. He performs with the Soldiers' home team in Sandusky.

Sturzinger is trained by Charley Scherer, a former sparring partner of Jack Dempsey's.

Late entries include Daniel Loveridge, 140, and George Prosser, 175, Mt Vernon; Ansel Breeze, 112, Ashley; Hayden Caris, 175, Willard, and Jack Barlowe, 174, Bucyrus.

First round tournament matches will open at 7:30 p m. Wednesday.

Defends Crown

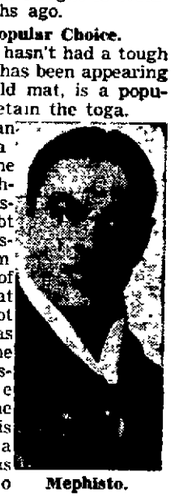
Champion Talaber to Meet Mephisto in Title Match at Armory Tonight.

FRANKIE TALABER, youthful Chicagoan, returns to the Armory mat tonight to defend the world light-heavyweight wrestling championship he recently won from Billy Weidner.

The challenger is the Great Mephisto, who lost the title he's seeking to regain tonight to Weidner some months ago.

Talaber Popular Choice.

Talaber, who hasn't had a tough match since he has been appearing on the Mansfield mat, is a popular choice to retain the toga.



Mephisto.

The Chicagoan hasn't lost a match since he became topnotcher, and Mansfield fans doubt whether Mephisto can stop him

Talaber, son of a former great of the mat, is not as colorful as some of the grunters Mansfielders have seen work on the canvas, but he is the type of a workman that is interesting to watch

Mephisto, on the other hand, is apt to take the grappling rules into his own hands in an attempt to win.

The match will be over the two-fall, 90-minute route.

Vie In Semi-Finals.

"Gentlemen Jack" Claybourne, colored Chicago light-heavy, takes on Otis Clingman, a former cowpuncher of Amarillo, Tex., in the semi-final match, which will be preceded by the opener pitting Francis Steele, motorcycle officer of Plymouth, against Flash Clifford of Peru, Ind.

Women accompanied by escorts will be admitted free, according to Tim Nolan, matchmaker of the Quality club, sponsor of the show.

NEW TIRE WINS IN SENSATIONAL NON-SKID TESTS!

READ THE REPORT— from America's Largest Independent Testing Laboratory

"BOTH regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers were submitted to a series of exhaustive road tests made over a three months' period by us, to determine their resistance to skidding and wear, with the following results:

"NON-SKID—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

"MILEAGE—The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19.1% more miles before the tires wore smooth.

A. R. ELLIS, Pres. PITTSBURGH TESTING LABORATORY

Stops Quicker Than Tires Costing up to 70% More!

ACTS LIKE A BATTERY OF WINDSHIELD WIPERS

The spiral bars of this new Goodrich Life-Saver Tread act like a battery of windshield wipers, sweep the water right and left—force it out through the deep grooves—make a dry track for the rubber to grip.

NO tire tested, regardless of price, came up to the new Goodrich Silvertown in skid resistance! That was what the largest independent testing laboratory in the country found out in a series of exhaustive tests made against the regular and premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers.

That's because the New Silvertown Life-Saver Tread accomplished what Goodrich engineers had spent years in trying to perfect—a tread that is actually a road dryer. A tire so different in appearance, design and action that it turns the wet road under your car into a "dry" surface—protects you from skids in all directions! Gives you Golden Ply blow-out protection, too.

Come in today for a demonstration that will give you one of the greatest motoring thrills you've ever had. For safety's sake, ride on Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

STOCK MARKET LEADERS RUN INTO SELLING

Brokers Attribute Down-turn to Desire of Traders to Cash-in Rally Gains.

NEW YORK — Stock market leaders ran into selling today, following last week's sharp upswing, and many backed away fractions to 2 points.

Brokers attributed the downturn mainly to the desire of trading forces to cash in part of their gains resulting from the recent rally which more than halved the sharp March slump. Inflation fever cooled. Aid from foreign markets was lacking, most being closed in observance of the final Easter holiday.

Commodities, generally, exhibited strength, although grains were without climbing vigor. Bonds were mixed.

No great comfort was found in the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said the upward movement in buying of the metal during March seemed to have spent itself and that April output, although promising to equal that of the preceding month, showed scant evidence of continuing to broaden.

The review noted a slow expansion in orders from miscellaneous consumers, but requirements here were believed insufficient to lend a great deal of support to mill activities.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO—(AP)—(U. S. D. of A.)—The hog market closed the week on a slow, steady basis today, limited receipts having no strengthening influence. The supply of salable lambs was also small, but there was some weakness in evidence in this branch of the trade. Cattle closed steady, but there was a bearish undertone on strictly good, choice and prime medium weights and weighty steers.

Hogs: receipts, 3,000, including 2,800 direct; steady trade on small supply available; scattered lots good and choice, 190-200 lbs., $8.60-8.70; strictly choice kinds absent; shippers, 125; estimated holdovers, 500; compared week ago, good and choice barrows and gilts, all weights, steady to 10c lower; packing sows, 15c to 25c off.

Cattle: receipts, 100; calves, none; compared Friday last week, fed steers steady to strong, but undertone dull on good to choice heavies; yearlings more active than fed steers scaling 1100 lbs. upward, and light steer and heifer yearlings, strong to 25c higher; all light heifers, and by sympathy light yearling steers as well as cows at a new high on crop; cows, 25c to 40c up; bulls, 25c lower, and vealers 50c down; excessive steer run and breaking prices early followed by small receipts; early decline recovered; extreme top heavy steers, $10.35; light steers, $10.10, but only two loads above $10.00; best yearlings, $9.65; light heifers, $9.10; odd lots heaviest, $9.25-9.75; common and medium killers and stockers scarce.

Sheep: receipts, 5,000, including 4,000 directs; late Friday fat lambs mostly steady, top $8.75; bulk woolskins, $8.50-8.65, choice 101-lb. weights at outside; top clipped lambs, $8.25, bulk $7.85-8.00; for week ended Friday, 3,800 directs; compared Friday last week, fat lambs, 25c to 40c lower; sheep, steady; week's top wooled lambs $8.85, closing top, $8.75 to packers and shippers; week's bulk, $8.25-8.65, bulk after mid-week, $8.50-8.65, with choice 101-lb. average at $8.65 late; practical top clipped lambs, $8.25, bulk $7.25-8.00, one load choice 82-lb. weights early $8.35; scattered native spring lambs, $8.65-10.00, one double common to medium 55-lb. Texas offerings, $7.00 straight; few native slaughter ewes, $5.25-5.50, bulk week's slaughter ewe offerings $4.75-5.00, few downward to $3.50 and under.

Three Others Missing After Explosion On Fishing Vessel.

BELLINGHAM, Wash. —(AP) — Two persons were killed and three were missing today after an explosion aboard an Alaska-bound fishing boat.

Bodies recovered were those of Frank Smith, 34, and Mrs. Earl Cummings, wife of the owner of the gasoline boat, which started for Juneau with five aboard.

Sunday's warm weather and bright skies were a continuation of Saturday's June-like weather when the thermometer climbed to 76. Today it was slightly cooler, according to Weather Observer Otto Sprunger who reported a temperature close to 70 this noon.

Cloudy and cooler tonight, but fair and cooler tomorrow is forecast.

SHOWS EFFECTS OF RECESSION

County Sales Tax Receipts For Year $44,000 Behind Last Year's Figure.

Although retail sales have showed a slight gain so far this month in widely scattered sections of the state, sales tax receipts in Richland county to date this year are $44,672 behind collections for the same period in 1937, the financial report of State Treasurer Clarence H. Knisley showed today.

Collections so far in 1938 total $92,680 as compared with $137,352 last year. Receipts during the week ending April 2 dropped to $7,746, little more than half the figure for the same week last year, the report indicates.

Only two counties in the state —Sandusky and Coshocton—reported gains in sales tax collections for the week of March 28 to April 2, over the same week in 1937, although a number of them had only slight decreases.

Hardest hit by the recession were the large industrial sections, including Cuyahoga, Franklin, Montgomery, Stark, and Mahoning counties, the tax figures indicate. Tax receipts for Stark county, in which Canton is located, dropped from $70,988 in the last week of March last year to $28,221 in the corresponding period this year.

NAMED TO POSTS

County Engineer Howard C. Sword had been named today to the legislative committee of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers, while C. W. Conklin, Mansfield architect, was appointed to the society's speakers' bureau.

Appointments, announced by E. G. Cantwell, president of the engineers' organization, also include L. G. Shenberger, Ashland, to the legislative committee, and I. R. Ault, Ashland, division state highway engineer, as a member of the public relations committee.

of the ambulance, suffered a broken nose, and Leo Heyl, also of Ashland, his companion, received a leg fracture in the collision. The ambulance was en route from Ashland to Dayton.

Three Mansfielders were injured in two accidents Saturday and early Sunday in the city. They were treated at General hospital and released.

Joseph W. VanTilburg, 244 Bartley avenue, and Miss Felice Walker, 47 Hoffman avenue, suffered cuts and bruises at 4:30 p. m. Saturday when the automobile in which they were riding was sideswiped by a truck and hurtled into a ditch along Lexington avenue near Cook road. Police said the driver of the truck did not stop.

Joseph Thern, 505 Van Buren avenue, suffered minor injuries at 12:30 a. m. Sunday when a car he was driving collided with another operated by Earl Griffith, R. D. 5, Mansfield, at Springmill and North Mulberry streets.

Griffith and three other occupants of Thern's car were not hurt.

Homer Moses, 25, of R. D. 1, Loudonville, received cuts on his hands and face about midnight Saturday when cars operated by Stephen L. Thomas, Gary, Ind., and Roy C. Grady, Hayesville, collided head-on on route 30 near Mifflin.

Junior DeHart, 16, of Bellville, was treated by a physician for cuts on his knee after a car in which he was riding with A. L. Neptune of Fredericktown crashed into another driven by Glenn Ross of North Fairfield on route 13 one mile south of Bellville.

STATE PENSION SET-UP STARTS

Retirement System to Include 250 Public Employes Here; Contribute 4 Per Cent.

More than 250 city, county, and state employes in Richland county will be asked to contribute $1 each to put the new public employes' retirement system into operation.

The law, which became effective Sunday, will not require mandatory contributions until July 1, after which every member of the system must contribute 4 per cent of his annual salary to the pension fund. The plan includes only appointive offices and not elective officials.

Payments into the state fund may not exceed $80 per year per person, which means that the 4 per cent will be deducted only from salaries up to $2,000 a year. The first retirement under the system will be possible on Jan. 1, 1939.

The initial $1 payment is for administrative purposes, and each member will be required to pay $1 per year into the same fund while he is a public employe.

Deductions amounting to 4 per cent of the salary of each employe will be made by the head of his department after July 1, unless exemption is claimed in writing within 90 days after the law goes into effect.

The plan provides for optional retirement at the age of 60 and compulsory retirement at 70. Pension payments after retirement will depend on the length of service and the salary of the participant and may range upward to $131 per month for an employe who has worked 35 years at a salary of $2,000 per year.

THEATER

CONSIDERABLE interest is being shown in the filming of "Northwest Passage" which M-G-M will make from the widely read and much discussed novel. In the first place Metro plans an imposing cast of the "Grand Hotel" and "Dinner At Eight" type. Already Robert Taylor and Spencer Tracy has been assigned to the roles of Langdon Towne and Major Rogers, respectively. It will be made in natural colors, which should be effective in view of the fact that the story deals with the Indian tribes of the great Northwest forests in pre-Revolutionary days, and follows the perilous trail of frontiersmen. Hunt Stromberg and Director W. S. Van Dyke will make it as soon as they finish "Marie Antionette" with Norma Shearer and Tyrone Power. The feminine roles have not been assigned as yet.

Love Story Incidental.

The tempestuous love of hot headed Dion O'Leary, big political boss of Chicago's shady district during the 1860's, and Belle Fawcett, glamorous songstress of the cabaret (it was a saloon then), is one of the incidental phases of "In Old Chicago." While the love story is important to the main story, the sweep of the picture is in the great fire which destroyed the city and the exodus of the fear stricken citizens into Lake Michigan. Don Ameche and Tyrone Power are the two brothers who battle each other, one as a reform mayor and the other as a crooked politician. Alice Faye is Belle and Alice Brady is the mother of the O'Learys. Tom Brown plays a younger brother. A high light of the drama is the stampede of 10,000 fire-maddened steers through the streets during the fire. The picture is an Ohio theater attraction.

Replace Lombard Film.

One of the first Carole Lombard pictures to "faw down" since that beauteous young woman began making pictures is "Fools For Scandal," which was booked at the Madison for four days, but will be replaced with another picture tomorrow. Carole, looking lovelier than ever, is cast opposite Fernand Gravet in a Continental romance. The film will be withdrawn tomorrow, giving way to "Tipp Off Girls," an action picture with Mary Carlisle, Lloyd Nolan, Roscoe Karns, Larry Crabbe and Anthony Quinn. There is a truck hi-jacking gang which comes to grief when a secretary leaves her shorthand notes behind, where police find them. The story is based on the investigation of racket which cost the nation $36,000,000 last year.

"Born To Dance.

Eleanor Powell of the shapely legs and fast stepping tootsies returns to Mansfield at the Majestic in "Born To Dance" one of her late films. This musical-dancing fest introduced such songs as "I've Got You Under My Skin" and "Easy To Love." James Stewart, the bashful-type hero, who made a hit recently in "Of Human Hearts," is her leading man. The cast is filled with familiar names —Frances Langford, Una Merkel, Virginia Bruce, Sid Silvers, and Buddy Ebsen—just to give you an idea. A mystery story enacted by Neil Hamilton, Evelyn Venable, Barbara Pepper and others, is told in "Hollywood Shadow Mystery," the second feature.

Favorite Fable.

The favorite fable of the producers, that of the newspaper reporter who is too busy to show up at his own wedding, is the basis of "No Time To Marry," which has Mary Astor, Richard Arlen and Lionel Stander at the Ritz for the current bill which runs through Tuesday. For the second or third time the reporter stands up the lady of his choice while he goes goat hunting and heiress baiting for a story. It's fun even if it isn't authentic. Edward G. Robinson in "The Last Gangster," gives a dramatic performance as the man who thought he couldn't be caught, but who was Rose Stradner is seen as his wife and James Stewart as the newspaper man who offers her protection.

RESOLUTION NO. 38-52

By Mr. Berg:

Declaring it necessary to improve BARTLEY AVENUE from Glessner Avenue to Parkview Street by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO, Three-Fourths of all Members elected thereunto concurring.

SEC. 1.—That it is necessary to improve BARTLEY AVENUE from Glessner Avenue to Parkview Street by grading the street and paving the roadway with concrete, brick, block, sheet asphalt or other suitable material and constructing the necessary curbing, headers, storm drainage, etc.

SEC. 2.—That the grade of said street as improved shall be the established grade; and that the grade of the curbs shall be as established.

SEC. 3.—That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

SEC. 4.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less the cost of intersections and one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed by the foot front upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit; all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

SEC. 5.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at 6 per cent. per annum; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

SEC. 6.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

SEC. 7.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, including the cost of intersections, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law, out of the registration fee fund.

SEC. 8.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Signed K. P. TROLL,
President of Council.

WANT ADS BRING 'EM BACK

Below are three ads that brought back three dogs. The ads appeared in the "Lost and Found" column of the Want Ads. This first ad brought Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson's dog back the first day.

LOST—Small Brindle and White Boston Terrier, name "Teddy." License 3719. Reward. Canal 1471.

The following ad returned the lost dog soon after the ad appeared. .

LOST—Black and White Fox Terrier dog on Shepherd Road. W. B. Linn, 328 Shepherd Road.

This dog was returned to its owner in "double-quick" time. Mrs. Thomas Grady who placed the ad depends on these little ads to return her dog. She has a reason, too, for these ads have brought this same dog back a dozen times.

LOST—Toy bull dog. Child's pet. 63 Stewart Ave. Dover 4036. Reward.

YOU can get these same results if YOU place an ad for lost pets or articles. Call CANAL 4251 and ask for Miss Carr or Miss Lee. The results will follow.

TAILSPIN TOMMY—One Down . . . and Two to Go! By Hal Forrest

FAILING TO INTIMIDATE JERRY INTO DIVULGING THE PLANS OF TOMMY'S MYSTERY PLANE BY THREATS OF BRUTAL TORTURE, SERGMOSK TURNED HIS BACK UPON THE COURAGEOUS LAD, AND AT THIS INSTANT JERRY PERCEIVED A FIRE EXTINGUISHER ATTACHED TO THE BACK OF THE SHIP AND CONCEIVED A DESPERATE PLAN.
O'OH, BOY! A PERFECT TARGET!
ONE DOWN!
AN' TWO MORE TO GO!
AN' IF I GET TH' OTHER TWO IT MEANS CURTAINS FOR ME, ANYWAY, 'CAUSE THERE WON'T BE ANY PILOT TO LAND THIS SHIP

band, she had reached for the telephone to call the police. He tore the phone from her grasp, and she ran from the house, while Copper sent six wild shots after her.

Wife to Ask Hearing.

Chief Bates said that Mrs. Copper told him she intended to file a request in probate court today for a sanity hearing. He said he believed that Copper's case was definitely a mental one and that he had been distraught by financial worries.

Copper was appointed to the force in 1929 and for the past three years has been in plain clothes. He has taken a keen interest in juvenile delinquency and for the past year has worked almost entirely on those cases which had come to the attention of the police.

He is a member of the juvenile advisory council and has made numerous talks to boys clubs in an effort to curb juvenile crime in the city.

Copper, 34, has two children of his own, a boy and a girl. Six years ago he and his wife adopted another girl and boy. He has also acted as a guardian to several youths paroled from the juvenile court.

FRANCE ACTS TO GET FRIENDSHIP PACT WITH DUCE

Paris Orders Diplomat to Ask If Italy's Ready to Begin Negotiations.

(By United Press)

PARIS — France has taken steps to ask Premier Benito Mussolini whether he is ready to start negotiations for a French-Italian friendship pact simlar to that which Italy and Britain initialed Saturday, it was understood today.

Jules F. Blondel, French charge d'affaires at Rome, was instructed to ask Mussolini for a statement on his readiness for negotiations, it was said, in what was called a French Easter gesture to consolidate peace.

(French sources at Rome said that Blondel was expected to see Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister, tomorrow.)

Study New Ambassador.

If the Italian reply is friendly, it was reported, the cabinet may vote this week to send a new ambassador to Rome even before the League of Nations council at its meeting May 9 considers again the problem of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia—this time with a view of recognizing it. Presumably the ambassador would be given credentials accrediting him to King Victor Emmanuel as "Emperor of Ethiopia."

It was indicated that Foreign Minister George Bonnet was acting with dispatch to take advantage of the British-Italian settlement.

He informed Sir Eric Phipps, British ambassador, yesterday that he and Premier Edouard Daladier would be glad to accept the invitation of the British government to go to London April 28 and discuss problems of mutual interest.

ACCEPT BRITISH BID

LONDON —(U.P.)— British leaders, confident that the British-Italian friendship treaty initialed Saturday has provided a good basis for future diplomatic negotiations, began preparing today for a visit by Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France.

Bonnet told the British ambassador at Paris that he and Daladier gladly accepted a British invitation to come here April 28 for discussion of their mutual problems.

It was understood that the talks would include:

1. Extension of the British-Italian agreement to include France; (2) rearmament plans, particularly in relation to air expansion and finance; (3) policy toward Spain after the civil war; and (4) policy toward central Europe particularly if the Czecho-slovakian situation should become critical.

It was believed that the British were prepared to give France every assistance toward air force expansion including technical advice, plans to pool resources in event of war, and financing of rearmament.

A Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS—

April 17.

THIS morning I went, on an errand, among the hills west of where I live The sun was about an hour high, and shone feebly through a mist of clouds The dew was heavy on the meadows, as white almost as frost. The dandelions along the wayside and in every patch of green showed glimpses of silky, golden hair. The cherry and plum trees stood clothed in white—the peach trees robed in Easter pink.

Two turtle doves dusted themselves in the gravel road, and barely escaped the windshield of my car The lark perched on a post and sang his liquid note The peewee was heard in every wooded thicket

The bloodroot stood in little colonies along an old rail fence, and others showed their pure white petals by mossy stones I saw the slender trillium stem holding its large, unopened bud Sassafras bushes were covered with tender grayish bills of green.

A short distance down a narrow, left-hand road I came to a large, plowed field A boy of 12 was driving a dark bay team hitched to a springtooth harrow It was morning and the fresh team moved lively while the boy pulled hard upon the lines, struggling to keep pace

A dozen bags of grain stood at regular intervals along the edge of the field, and three stakes in line, with white rags tied to the top were parallel to the moving team.

Then, from a little hollow in the field, I saw the farmer rise to view, a sack across his left shoulder, his right hand throwing the oats in rhythmic outward motion. The farflung grain fell in grayish showers as it was scattered evenly upon the mellow ground. Blackbirds swooped down along his path.

"Behold—a sower went forth to sow . . ."

THREE FACING COURT HEARING

Youths Accused In Burglary, Man Held For Receiving Property.

A Mansfield colored man was held in jail today for investigation by police in connection with receiving stolen property from two colored youths, the older of whom is 17.

The youths were released to their parents after they had confessed to burglarizing two filling stations in the past week, police said. The loot which included 16 gallons of motor oil was recovered at an oak street address after they had revealed the man's name to detectives.

Formal charges are expected to be filed against the man today and all three arraigned in juvenile court Wednesday, officers said.

ARMS FOR FIGHT ON NEUTRALITY

California Lawmaker Wants Roosevelt to Furnish List of Treaty Violators.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Rep. Byron Scott (D., Calif.) announced today he immediately will introduce a house resolution calling upon President Roosevelt to furnish congress with a list of nations which have violated treaties to which the United States is a signatory.

The move was viewed as the opening wedge in a fight of congressional liberals to modify the neutrality act. It was reported that a group of congressmen backing Scott's plan expect President Roosevelt, if the resolution is approved, to list as pact violators:

1. Japan, for her activities in China
2. Italy and Germany for their activities in Spain.
3. Italy for her conquest of Ethiopia.

Scott, who conferred at the White House Friday with President Roosevelt, said he "had good reason" to believe the resolution will pass and that the information on treaty violators will be made available immediately.

Treaties to which his resolution would refer, it was disclosed, are the nine-power pact guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China and the Kellogg treaty outlawing war.

GUARDSMEN SAVE FIVE FROM DEATH

Speedboat Which Ran Out Of Gas Sighted From Shore.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The coast guard station here today had another rescue to its credit after a surfboat crew under boatswain's mate John Needham went to the aid of five persons in a speedboat driven three and one-half miles offshore by a 37-mile wind.

The speedboat, piloted by Bert C. Cornley, ran out of gasoline as it was returning to the Rocky River yacht harbor. Observers on shore called the coast guard, who had noted the boat but thought it was a fishing craft.

When the rescue was effected the boat was dragging anchor and was duffeted by eight-foot waves.

Both Coffin and Severance will lead discussions on insurance while Dr. Evans will represent the field of medicine.

The stag is sponsored by the Oberlin Alumni association for the purpose of giving junior and senior men at Oberlin an opportunity to discuss vocational opportunities.

RENEW EFFORTS TO OBTAIN WPA DITCH PROJECT

County Engineers Seek Okay on Flood Prevention Job Calling for 250 Men.

Renewing their efforts to obtain a $175,000 WPA flood prevention project for Mansfield and Richland county, County Engineer Howard C. Sword and Assistant Engineer Walter E. Rusk were in Columbus today to offer an additional sponsor contribution for the project.

The project, which would provide work for 250 men for 10 months, already has been approved by state WPA officials, but federal officials at Washington contended that the county's contribution was too small and delayed approval pending a possible re-adjustment of the financing of the work.

County Offers $18,000.

Sword said the county had offered to contribute about $18,000 under the original set-up which called for a total outlay of $75,000. The project was increased to approximately $175,000 by state WPA officials, Sword said, because they believed the larger amount would have a better chance of attracting the attention of the WPA office at Washington.

"We intend to raise our offer, but most of it will be in the contributing of additional county equipment for the ditch and dredging work," Sword asserted.

The county has no money to add to the proposal already made, the engineer pointed out.

The project plans call for the construction of at least 10 drainage ditches in the county rural areas and the dredging of Ritter's run, Touby's run and Rocky Fork creeks in Mansfield.

Sword said he was prepared to go to Washington to seek federal approval of the project if his trip to Columbus is unsuccessful. He said he would ask Mayor Claude M. Hunter to send a representative of the city with him to argue the city's interests in the project.

Tenor Hurt When Trains Crash As Block Signal Fails.

HUDSON, N. Y. —(AP)— Nino Martini, the tenor, and 10 other passengers and a brakeman were recovering today from injuries received in a train collision early Sunday at Linlithgo, 11 miles east of here.

Martini was hurled from his bed and his leg injured when the second section of the New York Central's "Iroquois," bound for Chicago from New York, rammed into the first section, delayed with two other trails at Linlithgo by failure of a block signal to function.

The rear trucks of the last car of the section, a Cleveland bound pullman, were derailed.

CALLS STATE RELIEF PARLEY

Ferguson Plans Conference of City, County Officials on Financing Problems.

Mansfield and Richland county officials today were making plans to attend a state-wide conference of city and county officials in Columbus Thursday and Friday called by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to discuss relief and other governmental financing problems.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter said he received an invitation today and that it was probable that either he or City Auditor Paul L. Kelley would attend.

County officials said today that a representative group including the auditor, engineers and commissioners would attend.

Matters that will be taken up at the two-day conference, United Press dispatches said, will include the federal works program, public employes' pension fund, proposed constitutional amendment to abolish sales and other excise taxes, and ways and means for better enforcement of the sales tax and liquor control laws.

PROVIDES BOND

ASHLAND—John Bowman, 48, of Loudonville, was released from the custody of Sheriff H. F. Wallett Saturday morning after posting a personal check for $100 for appearance this week on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Bowman was arrested by State Highway Patrolman L. D. Alexander near Loudonville Friday night.

SCHOOL BOARD CONVENES

DUSTY SUMMER LOOMS ALONG MADISON ROADS

With no funds available for road oil, it appeared today that residents along Madison township's unpaved roads are due for a dusty summer.

Because all of the township's surplus funds will be needed for relief, township trustees said none of the township's stone, gravel and earth roads will receive dust treatment this year unless relief costs take a sudden drop or a new source of income is found. Neither appeared likely to the board of trustees.

Lack of funds also will prevent any new road construction this year, W. F. Beam, chairman of the board, said.

Seek Fund Transfer.

With the shift of the Madison township relief burden from the county to the township trustees in re-organization of the county relief set-up last month, trustees immediately sought transfer of $10,000 from the road and bridge fund to a special relief fund.

The transfer has been approved by the state tax commission and awaits only the approval of common pleas court. Trustees said the shifting of $10,000 for relief purposes will leave only $6,000 in the road fund, barely enough for regular maintenance work.

Township roads worst affected by dust have been oil-treated for the past four years, the trustees spending $4,000 last year to apply 50,000 gallons of oil to a number of the roads. In some places, roads received two applications of oil last summer, Beam said.

FILLS VACANCY

Ashland County School Board Members Pick H. T. Crone.

ASHLAND — Harry T. Crone, veteran member of the Ashland county school board was named to fill the post on the county board left vacant by the death of the late J. J Walsh of near Loudonville, president, according to O. H. Maffett, county school superintendent.

Crone, not a candidate for the appointment, was chosen for the post at the regular monthly meeting held here. Last fall he was a candidate for the post and was defeated.

Previously he served with the county board for 16 years, and by his present appointment will serve nearly the full term.

Republican Leaders Call New Recovery Program Unsound In Shift of Strategy.

to monetary and credit dealings," Hamilton said.

"The undisputed facts are," he said, "that our banks long have been filled with idle money. Interest rates have been low. There is no need to create any more bank credit. What is needed are prospective borrowers who see an opportunity in private enterprise to make a reasonable profit and a reasonable chance to pay back the loan."

Vandenberg's speech was made during a broadcast debate with Senator Hill, D., Ala., who was elected on an administration platform last winter.

Hill said the Hoover administration, when facing a business recession, had waited so long to act that it turned the slump into a major depression.

"Business had all the freedom and encouragement it could ask for," he continued. "Only customers were backing and neither Hoover nor his advisors knew how to give business confidence without customers. . . . The man who did it was Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Hill criticized Vandenberg for sitting "mute as a mummy" during the economic crisis in the Hoover administration.

Vandenberg, calling President Roosevelt's new program "a tragic error," expressed belief a "united effort along healing and constructive lines" could turn the economic tide in 90 days. He declared, however, another "pump-priming adventure" could not do it.

"Pump-priming," said Vandenberg, "means bigger debts, bigger deficits, and bigger taxes. It means discouragement to private industry—which is our sole source of true recovery.

"It is a deterrent rather than a tonic to that confidence which we need in the blood-stream of our commerce."

While battle lines were forming over the relief-recovery issue, a deadlock continued in a senate-house committee over the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes. A continuing impasse would delaw the projected May 14 adjournment of congress.

If the session should be prolonged, leaders said, chances for house consideration of the controversial wage-hour bill would be increased.

This week will be relatively light for both house and senate. The latter will begin debate tomorrow on the billion-dollar naval expansion program. The house will discuss appropriation bills.

Opening of a new men's bridge club, with quarters at 12½ West Fourth street, was announced today by H. W. Anderson, who will operate the club.

An organization meeting will be held tonight, Anderson said. He said he planned to have the club affiliated with the American Contract Bridge league, and also expected to make arrangements for members to participate in the World Bridge Olympic this month.

DELINQUENCY TRIAL THURSDAY

Probate Court Jury to Hear Charges Against Owner of East Sixth Place.

The trial of Charles Drye, 30, colored, proprietor of Bun's Place, 87 East Sixth street, who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors, today had been continued to Thursday by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson. The trial was to have opened this morning.

Continuance was granted after Atty. George W. Biddle, counsel for Drye, requested leave to withdraw a plea of not guilty and permission to file a motion to quash charges against his client. Hearing on the motion was scheduled for today in probate court.

Drye's case will be tried by a special jury before Judge Anderson in probate court, marking the first time in nearly a year that a jury has been drawn to hear a criminal case in the court.

Arrested a week ago by city detectives after he allegedly had sold beer to minors under 16, Drye pleaded innocent when arraigned before Judge Anderson. He has been free under $1,000 bond.

The defense motion to null charges against Drye contends that the affidavit does not make specific accusations and fails to state if the minors consumed the beer they are alleged to have purchased.

A jury of 12 members will be selected from a panel of 16 which was drawn in common pleas court. They are:

Grace Stecker, 386 South Main street; Edward L. Marshall, 174 Park avenue west; L. M. Daugherty, 101 Helen avenue; Frank T. Maul, 205 Gerke avenue; Mildred Ingram, 283 West Third street; Mrs. Selma Mahon, 123 Blymyer avenue; Albert Lantz, Perry township; Milton O. Gettleman, 104 Marion avenue; Joseph Freer, 373 Marion avenue; John H. Todd, 108 Vennum avenue; George C. Marks, 207 Sycamore street; Charles Haas, 268 Wayne street; Mary F. Maxwell, 89 West Second street; A. E. Swain, 503 Forest avenue; Pearl Connor, Woodland avenue, and K. P. Tingley, Madison township.

Dr. Townsend Given Pardon

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, leader of the $200-a-month pension movement, was granted a pardon today by President Roosevelt. The executive order released the aged pension advocate from a jail sentence of 30 days imposed on a charge that he was guilty of contempt when he walked out of a house committee hearing, refusing to answer questions. Dr. Townsend is shown in the above photo with his son, just before leaving Los Angeles for Washington where he was to begin his jail term.

World War General Able to Attend Son's Wedding.

EL PASO, Tex.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing sped eastward to New York in a special railroad car today—just another father thrilled at his only son's approaching marriage.

Still tired from his recent near-fatal heart attack, at a Tucson, Ariz., sanatorium, the general stayed inside his car when the train stopped here.

Dr. Roland Davison said he was standing the trip "better than we expected."

The wedding of Warren Pershing and Miss Muriel Bache Richards will take place Friday at St. Thomas church in New York.

because it had been transformed into a persecution.

Before receiving word of the pardon, Townsend, gaunt and gray and dressed in a neat brown suit, jested with newspapermen and photographers as he arrived at the court. More than 100 curious gathered to witness his surrender.

After quoting the requests that Townsend be pardoned — on grounds that "he was under the influence of men of stronger will and intelligence than his own and that they were far more responsible for his offense than the doctor himself—" the White House statement declared:

"The president, therefore, has pardoned Dr. Townsend."

The White House action was somewhat unusual in that under usual procedure requests for pardons must be made by the person convicted and the application is then referred to the justice department for consideration.

In the Townsend case, the pensions advocate did not personally ask a pardon and the appeal was not referred to the justice department.

GET JAIL TERMS

Two Arrested in Store Thefts Given 30 Days Each.

Two accused shoplifters arraigned in municipal court today on charges of petit larceny were sentenced to 30 days in jail.

John Hurley, Dayton, pleaded guilty to the theft of 11 pairs of women's hose at the J. C. Penny company. Police testified that they took Hurley into custody in Central park after they had been called to the store by the manager.

Bert Graham, transient, was sentenced when convicted on a similar charge. Officers said they arrested Graham at the Sears, Roebuck and company Saturday afternoon after they had been called by a department manager, H. E. Crooks. They testified the defendant had a shirt, taken from one of the counters, in his possession when arrested.

MONDAY, APRIL 18, 1938.

There's no law against cleaning up your own premises before clean-up week.

A dollar may not go far these days—but it takes a long time for it to get back.

In other words, all that is needed to assure national recovery is general agreement.

Today is the anniversary of Paul Revere's famous ride—and debunkers tell us that it was several days later that he sent in a bill for $5 for overtime.

Chinese Spirit Revived.

JAPAN may win the present Chinese war in spite of recent defeats. But it is clear that she cannot gain any such overwhelming victory as she expected when she lightly entered North China and Shanghai. She may be able to hold only a part of her gains in the northern provinces, and some of the principal seaports, and cannot be sure of them.

A reasonable guess now would be a peace this year or next on some compromise basis, with each nation "saving its face," but with Japan weakened morally and almost wrecked financially, and China, though suffering great loss in ruined cities and farm lands, immensely improved in morale and prestige.

The rebirth of the Chinese nation may date from the victory of Taierhchwang. It is incredible how it has lifted the spirit of 400,000,000 people to learn that the invaders are not supermen—that the Chinese themselves when adequately armed can stand against the hitherto unbeaten Japanese, and so against any foe likely to come against them.

Batter Up!

THIS is the week office boys brush up on their proverbial grandmothers' funeral technique and grown-ups ponder the wisdom of taking another annual day of leave to sneak into the ball park.

This is baseball week on the U. S. A. calendar—with cares and worries of everyday life forgotten. "Take me out to the ball game," will be the theme song of the inaugurals, and the nation's stadia will be packed to capacity.

Baseball has been rightfully called the great national game. While football coliseums may be packed to the very brim on Saturdays during the fall season, and other sports may attract multitudinous assemblies, the diamond sport remains first in the hearts of America.

Opening day is merely a prelude of a sports drama in which interest is manifest until the curtain is rung down after the late fall postlude.

Baseball arouses enthusiasm that no other recognized sport can possibly equal. It is the spring tonic for the nation.

In these days of unrest and strife in other nations, it is gratifying to see a saner American turn its thoughts to baseballs instead of bullets.

Any event that can attract the attention that baseball does deserves whatever recognition it receives.

Opening games are scheduled today and tomorrow, but interest in the major league races will continue until the last man is out in the world series following completion of the circuit races.

London-Rome Axis.

AMERICANS have not been enthusiastic about the British government snuggling up to Mussolini, yet the treaty recently entered into may prove to be a good thing for Europe and the world.

It is very desirable, from the standpoint of European democracies, to weaken Italy's alliance with Nazi Germany. It is sometimes better to fight the devil with a peace treaty than with fire. The diplomatic strategy of the Allies in the World war may be repeated.

Mussolini, offended and scared more than he admits by Hitler's seizure of Austria, is cooling toward Berlin. Mussolini's interests, too, are in the Mediterranean and Africa. Britain can help him there, and is disposed to do so under the Chamberlain government. If the two countries can divide the Mediterranean between them and act as joint guardians of Gibraltar and Suez, along with certain other little arrangements, peace is assured in that area, and Hitler's wings are clipped.

If Britain, France and Italy adjust their differences and move in the same general direction, both Europe and America may breathe more freely.

Recovery Spending.

HERE is a rather reassuring view on the problem of business recovery, as seen by F. F. Duncan, a midwestern financial editor who regularly leans to the conservative side:

"It may be insanity to condone a return to federal spending. It is bad ethics and it is poor economics. Later effects upon the taxpayers may be disastrous. But it seems to be the literal fact that private dollars are willing to match government dollars as far as government wants to go—to stage a recovery, to take men off relief, to supply them with regular jobs.

"The spontaneous hurrah from the marketplaces perhaps suggests that four billions of spending will not be necessary. In fact, if Washington would just close down its fear-breeding factory entirely, private capital would readily take 75 per cent of the burden off the government's hands. Cost would be split three private and one public."

Fit Punishment.

JAIL SENTENCES for traffic law violators don't make sense, argues Commissioner P. W. Foote of the Pennsylvania motor police.

"Jails are for criminals—not for speeding motorists or drunken drivers. If you want to keep speeders and intoxicated persons off the highways, take their driving licenses away. That hits them where it hurts."

This sounds reasonable, except in flagrant cases where drivers are so reckless, and the results so serious, as to make the cases virtually criminal rather than merely accidental. The tendency is in the direction indicated.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN, prime minister of Great Britain, and his secretary for foreign affairs, Lord Halifax, are congratulating themselves, no doubt, in making a "treaty of peace" with Italy. But they cannot sit back for long. Trouble has broken out at home. The Conservatives already have lost one parliamentary district to a Laborite in a bye-election. The Conservative tide is running out.

The British people, as much as they dread war, are not in sympathy with the prime minister's foreign policy. And they do not like the way Anthony Eden was turned out for Lord Halifax.

LORD HALIFAX

There was an interesting analysis of Lord Halifax and his policy recently by Prof. Harold J. Laski of London university in the London Daily Herald.

Here are some excerpts:

"Somehow, Lord Halifax has persuaded himself, a deal can be made which will save Great Britain from war. No sacrifice can be too great for that. Austria, Spain, Czechoslovakia, China, the Soviet Union—they matter nothing alongside the imperative need for peace. Wisely handled, Hitler and Mussolini can be persuaded to build their empires without touching our (British) basic interests. They can be taught to speak the language of the gentleman.

"War, Lord Halifax thinks, means revolution, and revolution means a Socialist society. Accommodation to the demands of the dictators is far better than such a 'tragedy.'

"What, of course, Lord Halifax refuses to see in all this is the postulates of his own thinking. That Hitler and Mussolini regard the world as an artichoke that they can eat as they wish he does not for a moment contemplate. That solemn engagements have no meaning for them he is not prepared to recognize. That they look upon Great Britain as the final enemy, to be destroyed when they have a Fascist Europe under their heel, does not occur to him."

WRITER'S ANALYSIS.

Prof. Laski then tries to analyze Halifax:

"Like Sir Edward Grey, he can shut his eyes to all that is unpleasant. He can pay lip service to the League of Nations. He can preach a sermon about collective security. But this is a real world in which neither purpose matters save for a peroration in the House of Lords. He will, he hopes, buy off the deluge. Posterity, one supposes, must take care of itself.

"The truth is that Lord Halifax does not really grasp the forces at work in the world that he proposes to guide. He will not transform Hitler and Mussolini by his noble incantations. They will play with him just so long as it suits their purpose. He will be a willing tool, assuming always that the finer their words the more sincere are their intentions. Having no real notion of the conditions upon which peace depends, he will not know his way through the intricate forces he will strive to direct."

A DANGER?

Then Prof. Laski issues this warning:

"Lord Halifax is a grave danger to peace in Europe because he has no notion of how intimate is the interdependence of peace and democratic institutions. All his gestures will be noble gestures. All his words will be pacific words. But, piece by piece, he will surrender the fortresses of democracy. He will betray them like a gentleman. He will carry us (Britain) over into what is effectively the Fascist camp in the simple faith that he is fighting the battle of democracy.

"We shall pay in the end a heavy price for his high character and the moral beauty of his inner life. For the premises upon which he acts involve the grim assumption that the dictators can be won to the service of the causes they exist above all to destroy."

WORDS COUNT.

Prof. Laski's words count. He is considered the chief writer of the British Labor party—who may inherit the present tangle in which Britain finds itself.

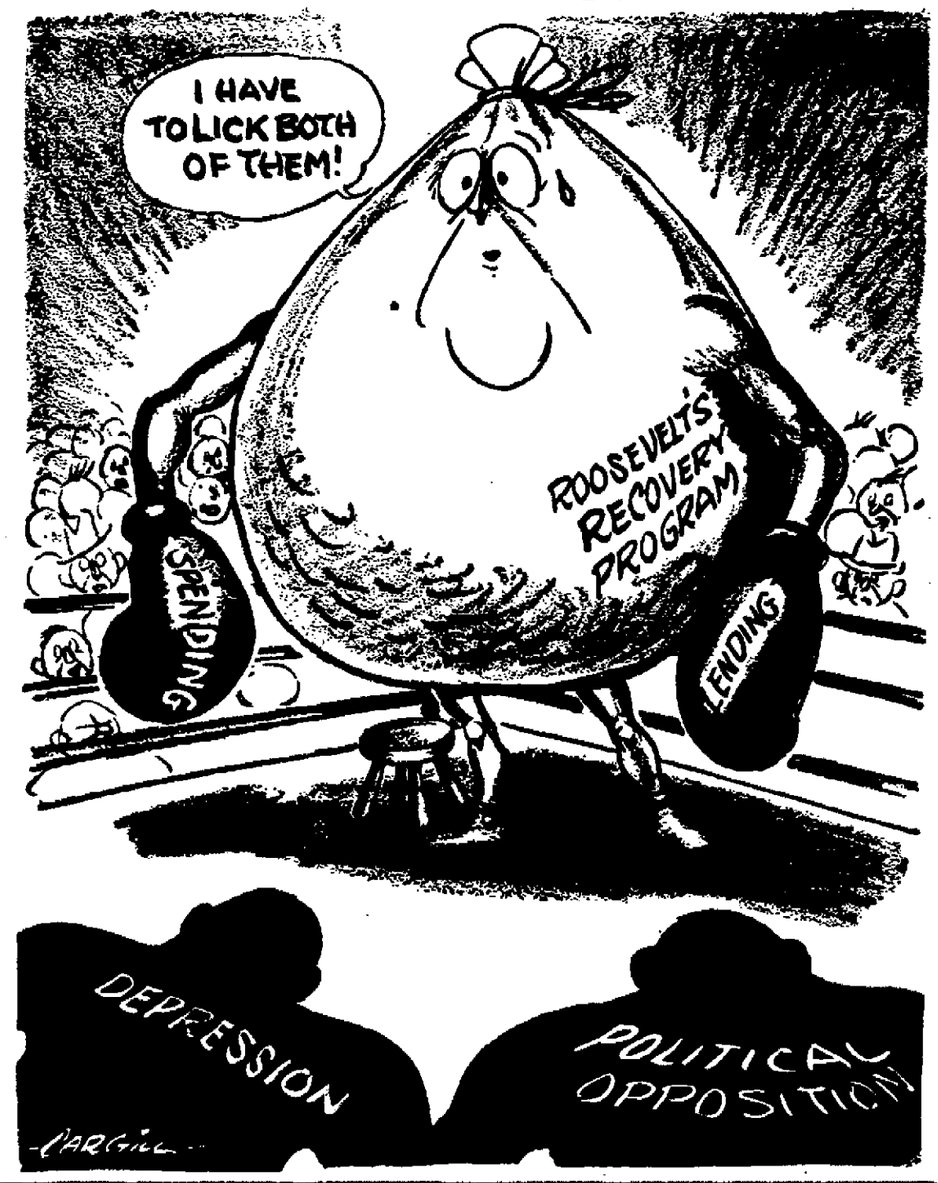
"TWO-FISTED FIGHTING MAN!"



Many Versions of Garner Incident

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Heaven alone knows how much truth there is in the story that President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner had a regular quarrel at a recent White House conference between the president and a group of Democratic leaders plus two or three members of the cabinet.

The president denies it, and no one questions his good faith. However, something seems to have occurred, which others describe as having been a redhot disputation, though "F. D." does not, doubtless in all honesty, seem to have considered as having amounted to an outright "quarrel."

No newspaperman was present at the gathering, nor is any official record of the affair available. All that the press knows of its details is what has leaked out through the medium of those who personally were in attendance. Their number was considerable—a dozen or so. But their accounts differ so widely as not to be worth much, any of them, from the standpoint of reliability.

WAS THIS IT?

Next after the presidential denial of any friction whatever, the mildest version is that Garner too slight umbrage at a good-natured verbal jab by "F. D." at Sam Rayburn, Democratic leader in the house of representatives, for having failed to steer the administration's government reorganization bill to a successful conclusion in that congressional chamber.

"Well, there are SOME measures," "Texas Jack" is said to have growled, "that NOBODY could steer to a successful conclusion."

A second witness depones that "Jack" whanged his fist on the executive desk when he said it.

A third testifies that the Texan, disregarding reorganization, "panned" pump-priming in particular.

The purport of a third yarn is that he "roasted" New Deal policies generally. And they say he was violent and even profane about it.

Garner ought to be a good authority on the subject.

Consulted, he rejoined that he does not have to go around to the newspapers, issuing "blankety-blank-blank denials."

Nevertheless, he did not issue a "blankety-blank-blank denial."

His "blankety-blank-blanks" also hinted to me that he was fretted.

HE'S NUCLEUS OF ANTIS

The outstanding fact is that John N. Garner is regarded in Washington as the nucleus of anti-administration sentiment.

Although only vice president, with no vote, he is assessed as a power in the senate. He remains as powerful as ever in the house of representatives —maybe more so than when he WAS a representative. And, politically, he is the most potential influence in the most partisanly Democratic part of this country.

Garner, essentially, is a conservative.

So is the bulk of Republicanism.

He is a conservative rallying leader. As I have remarked before, he is too old. Still, he may be conservatism's best available standard bearer.

Just as Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City looks as if he were Democratic-Republican liberalism's next standard bearer.

It would be queer (wouldn't it?) if Democratic 70-year-old John Garner should be named to oppose Republican and comparatively young Fiorello La Guardia, respecively on the Republican and Democratic tickets in 1940.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, April 18, 1918.

Members of Mansfield Retail Merchants association voted to become affiliated with Chamber of Commerce.

Henry Schomer, jr., 27, died at Camp Sherman. He was member of Mansfield contingent.

Seven hundred pupils of Mansfield high school participated in patriotic parade.

T. B. Jarvis, former prosecutor, moved to Canton after taking position with Anti-Saloon League.

Watching Trends

One of the Two "Sure Things."

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Don't come crying around a few years from now and say you weren't told. You are now being told—in the words of Senator Ashurst of Arizona:

"Taxes will be, to say the least, moderately heavy during the lifetime of all persons now in existence. Taxes may be reduced only by reducing expenditures. The remedy for heavy taxes is somewhat within the hands of the taxpayers themselves. If and when taxpayers quit the practice of telegraphing congress for more appropriations, and begin instead to telegraph congress to vote against appropriations, congress will grant relief from heavy taxes.

"But I do not entirely despair. There are in this world some laws that may not be repealed, such as the law of the survival of the fittest, the law of supply and demand, the law of compensation, and the law of reactions. Even if congress should refuse to grant relief from excessive taxes, the law of reactions would ultimately do its perfect work.

"As a rapidly running river will create obstructions for itself, likewise an era of prodigal expenditures will be followed by economy to the point of parsimony.

"I therefore declare to the senate, as I said last autumn in my addresses to various civic organizations, you are wise in getting money from Uncle Sam's treasury while the getting is good; for under the law of reactions, this prodigal era in due time will be followed by a regime that will make Calvin Coolidge look like a spendthrift." (Laughter.)

Holidays on Monday.

WE ARE unable to report any progress whatever on the bill of Senator Johnson of Colorado to make all holidays fall on Monday. The idea, of course, was to make longer week-ends. Part of the trouble is that Senator Johnson wrote in the bill a proviso that "whenever Thanksgiving day occurs on any other day than Monday," it shall be skipped over so as to have it celebrated on the nearest Monday. It was grand fun asking the Coloradoan how often Thanksgiving fell on Monday.

It is nice, also, to be able to report that the interests of your congressmen are being looked after by the Washington city commissioners. New traffic regulations recently were issued, one of which was to provide parking space for congressmen's cars along the curb near the National theater, the capital's only "legitimate."

In recommending the change, the traffic director said: "These spaces are needed to accommodate members of congress and governmental officials while visiting governmental establishments in that area on official business."

A most diligent search by this reporter has failed to disclose a single government establishment in that area. A block and a half away, on Pennsylvania avenue, are skads of government buildings.

Rhubarb Pie.

The old-fashioned pieplant was a better name, we think, for the burdock-looking plant that grows in backyards and gardens, than rhubarb. For it was and is a major contribution to good pies.

Even purchased on market it is cheap, and when stalks are pulled from home clumps there is no regret, for the leaves grow all summer and replace those that have been cut out from time to time. Indeed, if the seed stems are cut out the rhubarb is really succulent from spring to fall.

One thing that endears it to the average family is that it comes into fruition so early. Even the first of April usually makes pieplant pie possible. And how good it is! Even the old standby, apple pie, is not better.—Ohio State Journal.

Young America Asks—

Do Girls Demand Too Much of Boys?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE THE GIRLS MAKING THE AMUSEMENT TAX TOO HIGH?

Noel Neuman of Huntington, W. Va., answers with a thumping Y-E-S! / And I'll wager that many a bewildered Boy Friend joins in the chorus.

Dear Miss Robinson:

"Time once was when you could take a girl to the picture show, buy her some ice cream afterwards, take her home on a trolley and receive a very warm and profuse 'Thanks!' Try that today and a girl will ask, with a mean look, if 'you get to the big city very often.'

"No, you must first start off by hiring a cab; next comes an hour of drinking fancy high balls, before even going to the show. After the show she suggests another bar—more drinks. Eventually, she sees a girl friend with some other sucker and the two girls voice a desire to go dancing. So we go. More drinks and more cover charge. After a while the girls decide they are hungry. A waiter is summoned, and by the way the girls order you would think they were training to join a 'beef trust chorus.'

"Or perhaps, from bitter experience, you suggest a quiet evening of bridge. Fine—she's all for it. But you find yourself arriving with all the makings . . . and finishing up with a ducky little dinner here and a slick little dance there . . . and an empty pocket book.

"Say, girls, aren't you boosting the amusement tax a little too high?"

Noel Neuman—age 24

Yea Man! But it is entirely the girl's fault? Whom do you pick for a partner when you desire a Large Evening? Some friendly, practical Working Girl who's had to plug for her own nickels, and will value them and try to save yours, accordingly? Or some protected Home Girl, sweet and demure but a bit old-fashioned?

Neither! Chances are you choose some glittering little number who knows all the tricks—and can turn every head in the hall. Which naturally makes you feel like a Conquering Hero . . . but oh what a sad thud when you face the bill! Well, what did you expect? Gilded knick-knacks come high, son.

But aren't there any nice, understanding Old-Fashioned Girls left, who expect some Good, Clean and not-too-costly fun? Scads of 'em! BUT YOU'RE NOT LOOKING FOR THEM! YOU WANT A MILLION DOLLAR BABY WITH A FIVE CENT TAG!

ARE you going down the Trail and feeling, with a sick heart, that the fine standards of your own Youth have passed from the earth, forever? Then here's a boy who will revive all your faith and dreams. World, meet 19-year-old Jack Warren of Flagstaff, Ariz ...A YOUNG AMERICAN WHO DARES TO BELIEVE IN—DECENCY!

"Dear Miss Robinson—

"There's so much talk of Free Love these days—or girls as well as boys sowing their Wild Oats. But is Free Love ever justified? I'd like to go on record as answering — NEVER! The very theory is impossible, for the first price one must pay for 'free' love is the costliest and most precious thing on earth—THE LOSS OF ONE'S OWN HONOR.

"I'm 19 and I've been around. I think I've had more experience than the average minor. But my advice to my generation is—Let Married Life Be Married and Single Life Stay Single. Marriage is the most sacred institution we have, and its vows 'to love, honor and cherish' make life holy. To drag such dreams in the slime of free love is like defiling religion, and its poison goes deep, mentally, morally and physically.

"These so-called 'experimental preliminaries' can't prove whether you're meant for each other or not. Genuine affection and fighting determination are the real test—not an emotional orgy. My Dad married on a $30-per-month plan. AND MADE A GO OF IT. SINCERE love, not 'FREE love,' is what determines happiness.

"'Free' love jeopardizes the girl's reputation and peace of mind . . . nullifies the marriage vows . . . robs a young couple of golden memories which should glorify their whole lives. And they would start life together with a family skeleton which would haunt life forever—THE SKELETON OF LOST HONOR."

THEN for a short but oh-so-potent blast! James J. McCullough of Atlantic City, N. J., broadcasting — WITH A RED HOT APPEAL THAT OLD MEN BE "LIQUIDATED."

"President Roosevelt," says James, "is right in wanting to supplant the old men in the Supreme Court. The nation is in the hands of a set of antiques. I refer to the old boneheads who muddled us into the War, into Prohibition, into Depression, Recession, etc., etc., and I speak with no love. They should have been retired with Old Dobbin. They're steering us toward oblivion. Let's show our respect for Old Age by SHELVING IT! PUT YOUNG MEN INTO THE GOVERNMENT!"

James J. McCullough—
age 29 years
Atlantic City, N. J.
($5 prize winner)

Sounds interesting, J. J., but I wonder just how you'd draw the line between Age and Youth. I've seen "young" men of 23 who had no more imagination, initiative or go-gettem than a kitchen range—pompous, pouty, cowardly dopes. And I've seen "old" men of 70, 75 and 80 whose minds were living flames . . . whose very entrance into a room challenged the sleepy soul. Eternally young men like Arthur Brisbane, Fremont Older Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes—

A live wire subject. Let's see what the rest of you think of it. Would you—and you—and you—set an age limit for government service? And if so—when?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Somebody surely must be wrong. Somebody must have their dates, or their writers, or their something, mixed. I was thinking of Ernest Hemingway, and Jed Harris, and the new magazine Ken.

In the first issue of Ken Mr. Hemingway writes an article about his favorite subject, the Loyalist cause in Spain. After publishing the piece, the editors, in a little aside to the reader, say: We would like to have Mr. Hemingway become one of our editors, if our editorial opinions do not come into too much conflict. We do not know whether he will become one of our editors or not, for he has been in Spain ever since this magazine was first conceived. But whether or no, he will continue as one of our contributors until he quits or is fired!

Now let's go back three or five weeks, to an afternoon last February, in an office on Broadway. Mr. Jed Harris, the producer, is facing this correspondent across a wide desk. He has just come in off a junket from the deep south, and his bags are still unpacked.

He says: "I've been hunting and fishing with Ernest Hemingway down in Florida. We had a great time and I dazzled him with my marksmanship. We also discussed his new play, 'The Fifth Column,' which I may produce. I think he really has something there. Then I came back to New York."

Like Cleek, the man of 40 faces, nobody can get together on his exact whereabouts. Whither, Mr. Hemingway, Spain or the Everglades?

THERE is something hilariously cheering in seeing old Pearl White thrillers of 20 years ago, and the villains with curled mustaches emitting silent but cruel "Ha's" whenever the fragile heroine hove into sight. The Hotel New Yorker has begun a series of revivals for dinner guests and show several of these ancient movies each week. I am a sucker for the early film adventures of Helen Holmes, leaping off trains, and of Ruth Roland, who faced a thousand deaths every Sunday night in the old serials, each episode ending with the iron claw clutching at her throat, or the hero hurtling—so you thought—to a horrible death in the abyss below.

Jimmy Dorsey I like too, and his music I like better . . . I am not waving a flag for the New Yorker but with an ingenuous ice show, early Wallace Reid movies, and Dorsey's music all thrown in for a single dinner ticket—somebody deserves a nice hand.

MEANWHILE, Mr. C. W. Dayhoff, of TWA, weighs in with what seems to me a legitimate complaint. "It will be okay with us if the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Public Works administration want to quit using their initials, TVA and PWA," he writes. "Every time something happens the phones start ringing and people want to know if we are having trouble in Tennessee. It seems as if we are always being confused with TVA." Mr. Dayhoff, for your information is representing TWA, and that, far from being a government project, is the Transcontinental and Western Airways.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

That Word "Jade."

Somehow the word conjures up pictures of China, thoughts of the dynasties whose craftsmen have given samples of decorative pieces of jewelry fashioned from the precious green stone. However its name comes not from the land of the mandarin, but from Spain.

Because the stone was regarded as potent in curing a pain in the side, it was called, in Spanish, "piedra de ijada"—stone of the side, whence our "jade."

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Go Cheerfully.

Small things can make or mar the day;
Go cheerfully and speak
A happy word, the brightest side
Of every problem seek.

The difference between success
And failure is so small.
The balance may be held by just
One word, one word let fall

In anger, bitterness or dread.
Today, life is complex;
Think cheerful thoughts, say cheerful words
Not those that hurt or vex.

MR. ZERO + + +

CHAPTER XV

The darkness shut them in. There is always a strangeness about driving at night. To have so small a visible space in which to move and yet to move so fast, to rush upon the dark and see it slide away, receding endlessly upon itself, induces an inertia of the faculties. Thought is in suspense, ready to move again when the spell is broken.

Gay had been in a turmoil. She had been afraid, bold, eager, and afraid again. She had nerved herself to go down to Cole Lester. She would have nerved herself to the point of driving a strange Bentley along strange dark lanes. She would presently nerve herself to grope in a dark garden for Sylvia's blackmailer. Because Sylvia simply mustn't be allowed to hand over her husband's papers to Mr. Zero, and the only way of stopping her that Gay could think of was to butt in at the critical moment and scare Mr. Zero off the map. He was bound to be scared if he though there was a witness to his blackmailing, and it ought to keep him quiet and prevent him from worrying Sylvia again.

Gay had thought it a very good plan in London. Presently at Cole Lester she would probably not feel so sure about it.

They came into Colebrook and stopped. One of the little bright yellow signs put up by the A. A. informed them that they had arrived. At a quarter before midnight there would certainly have been no one abroad to settle the question.

Algy said, "Well?" and waited. When there was no answer, he said, "What next?"

"I'm trying to think," said Gay.

She had been to Cole Lester once when Sylvia was engaged, but it was more than a year ago, and it had been daylight. She had to shut her eyes and call the daylight picture back. She recollected having gone on past the church and along a lane, and then there were big gates, and a stone pillar on either side.

Gay opened her eyes and said, "We turn up by the church—we've got to find the church."

"Church all present and correct," said Algy—"on the left."

"Then we turn up by it, and there's a lane, and you come to some big gates."

And suppose they were shut.

This thought, which might have occurred to Gay in town, bobbed up with horrid suddenness now. You simply can't take a blackmailer by surprise if you have to knock up a lodge and get yourself admitted in a flourish of trumpets.

The gates were open. Gay seemed to remember that the drive was a very long one. She wondered whether she dared let Algy drive her in. It would be nice to feel that he was somewhere near, and it would be very nice not to have to walk up that dark drive all by herself. But could she risk it? She didn't think she could, and when Algy said, "Do we drive in?" she made her voice as firm as possible and said "No."

"What happens?"

"You stay here—I go in."

"Gay—"

"You said you wouldn't ask questions."

"I'm not asking questions. But I don't like it. Why not tell me what it's all about?"

He heard an odd little laugh.

"Isn't that a question?"

"I suppose it is in a way, but not the way you meant. Look here, my dear, I'm not an absolute fool, and I can't very well drive you to Cole Lester without guessing—"

"You're not to guess. And I never said a word about Cole Lester, and—Algy, you promised."

"All right—my head's in a bag. I've never heard of Cole Lester—it's rather famous, you know—I don't know that it belongs to Francis Colesborough, and I shouldn't dream of guessing."

"You're not to! Oh, Algy, you did promise!"

"Yes—I was a fool. Well, I stay here. Are you going to be long?"

"I don't know," said Gay in a rather a small voice.

"You'd better have a torch." He put it into her hand. "If I'm asleep when you get back, just wake me." He shut the door between them.

Gay looked at it with a horrid sinking feeling, and then turned away.

They had stopped just short of the gates, and Algy had switched off the headlights. She put on her little torch, found her way between the gate posts, and then put it out again. She must do without it if she possibly could, because her plan depended wholly on being able to get to the yew walk without being seen.

It was terribly black in the drive. She stood still and shut her eyes whilst she counted a hundred. When she opened them again she could see the black tracery of the trees against the sky. She began to walk up the drive. Once or twice she blundered into holly or a yew, but for the most part she was able to keep fairly straight, and as she went on her eyes began to see more and more.

In the end she came out upon the broad sweep in front of the house and could see it plainly as a great mass rising up against the sky. There was no light anywhere. The front seemed windowless, without a gleam. She stood at the edge of the trees and tried to think which way she must go. She had to get round to the back of the house. And she remembered that there was a path.

She began to skirt the gravel sweep, keeping to the left, and presently she found what she has looking for. The path ran between shrubs. She had to use her torch once where two old hollies leaned together overhead, and once she thought she heard a footstep—someone moving, but she couldn't tell whether it was behind her or in front, or whether it was just the echo of her own footstep thrown back from the wall of the house. Her heart beat quick and frightened.

She thought, "I don't know why I came. I can't stop Sylvia. I ought to have made her tell Francis. I can't do any good this way. Oh, I do wish Algy was here." But she went on, because even if a thing isn't any good, once you've started it you've got to see it through or else despise yourself for a spineless rabbit for ever and ever.

Algy Somers came into the room, and found it hostile. Colonel Anstruther was standing with his back to the fire. Inspector Boyce sat stifly at the writing table. Mr. Brook, whom he knew by sight, looked up from a notebook and then down again. It was borne in upon Algy that he was here not only to be questioned, but also to show good reason why the suspicions of the occasion should not be focussed upon him. It was a very disquieting impression.

The Chief Constable opened the proceedings.

"I should be glad if you would repeat your account of what happened last night, Mr. Somers."

"I have made a statement in writing, sir." Algy's tone was quiet and pleasant.

"You wish to adhere to that in every respect? Nothing you'd like to add to it?"

"Nothing that I can think of, but if there are any questions you would like to ask—"

Colonel Anstruther looked past him.

"Mr. Somer's statement, Boyce."

The Inspector brought it over and went back to his seat. Colonel Anstruther frowned at the typewritten page.

"You say, Mr. Somers, that Miss Hardwicke asked you to drive her down to Cole Lester. When was this?"

"Well, I was having a bath when she rang up—I suppose it was about 7 o'clock. By the way, she didn't ask me to drive her to Cole Lester, she asked me to lend her my car. I wouldn't do that, but I offered to drive her, and she stipulated that I shouldn't ask where we were going."

"And when did you find out?" There was a sneering tone in Colonel Anstruther's voice.

"When Miss Hardwicke told me to make for a village called Colebrook, I guessed at once that she was going to Cole Lester to see her cousin," Algy said.

"And you want us to believe that you asked no questions?"

"I had promised not to, sir."

"Perhaps you were going down to Cole Lester in any case?"

Algy allowed himself to be surprised.

"Oh, no, sir. My acquaintance with Lady Colesborough is very slight."

"Have you ever talked to her on the telephone?"

"Certainly not."

Mr. Brook looked up.

"Did Miss Hardwicke give you any explanation of why she was going down to see her cousin in the middle of the night?"

"No, she didn't tell me anything."

"But you had your own ideas on the subject. Do you mind telling us what they were?"

Algy hesitated.

"It's rather difficult to say. I was a good deal concerned about Miss Hardwicke. She is very young, her people are abroad, and I had an idea that she was letting herself get mixed up in something that might — involve her in some unpleasantness. As soon as I guessed we were going to Cole Lester I thought it was something to do with Lady Colesborough. I had to let her go off into the grounds by herself, but I didn't feel at all happy about it, and as soon as I thought it was safe I followed her.

* * *

Colonel Anstruther returned to the statement. "You say you followed Miss Hardwicke up the drive, and afterwards along the path that skirts the house. Did you know the place? Had you ever been there before?"

"No."

"Then how did you find your way?"

The question came at him sharply, but Algy took it with a smile.

"I had a torch, sir. I didn't use it more than I could help, because I didn't want Miss Hardwicke to know that I was following her."

"And you maintain that you followed Miss Hardwicke all the way?"

"Oh, yes—definitely."

Mr. Brook spoke in his quiet voice.

"Taking into account the time that passed before you followed Miss Hardwicke, would it have been possible for you to reach the far side of the yew hedge by the time the shot was fired?"

"Oh, no—certainly not."

"It Costs Me Only 43 8-13c A WEEK - - - TO COOK ELECTRICALLY"

"IT'S too bad that so many homemakers still think an electrical range is expensive to operate because they are just depriving themselves of the most modern of cooking methods—a cooking method that I know from experience is cleaner, cooler, more convenient and just as fast, if not faster, than any other cooking method. I know my electric range was not costing me much because my electric service bills had increased less than 59 4-13 cents a week after installing my range. But I knew that some of that increase was due to adding other electrical appliances. So it did not surprise me, when a special meter was attached to my range to find that the range alone actually costs me only 43 8-13 cents a week to operate. I'll gladly show other homemakers the records because every woman deserves the time, work, and money-saving advantages of electric cookery."

MISS PAULINE THRUSH WED EASTER SUNDAY

THE marriage of Miss Pauline Thrush and Richard Parkison was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 3:30 at the First United Brethren church. Rev. James Boyer read the single ring ceremony. Glenn A. Thrush, R. D. 4, father of the bride, gave her in marriage and Miss Thrush was attended by her sister, Leona. Mr. Parkison is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Parkison, Lexington.

Mrs. R. V. Hoover, organist, played "Because," "At Dawning," and "Indian Love Call" preceding the ceremony. While the nuptial service was being read "Oh Promise Me" was played and Miss Mary Cripe, Ashland, sang "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding marches were played for the processioal and recessional.

Miss Thrush wore an aquamarine brocaded taffeta floor-length dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias. Attending the bride, Miss Leona Thrush, wore a floor-length peach georgette with white accessories. She had a corsage of sweet peas and Talisman roses.

Best man was Herbert Trout and the ushers included John Seigfred, Aubrey Thrush and Lloyd Hamilton. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father. The couple then left for a short wedding trip. Mrs. Parkison wore a beige outfit with blue accessories for a going-away costume. The couple will reside at the home of the bride's father upon their return.

Out-of-town guests here for the ceremony included David Henry, Mt. Clemens, Mich., and Miss Ann Matthews, Cleveland.

Couple Has Dinner In Celebration Of 25th Anniversary

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Winters entertained 35 friends at a 6 o'clock dinner given at a Mansfield tea room in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary. Dinner was served at two long tables decorated with bowls of white roses on silver trays and the small figures of a bride and groom arranged under silver arches. Favors were in silver and white tapers were used to light the tables. A four-tiered wedding cake was also placed on the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Winters were married at the First United Brethren church by Rev. E. L. Givens. They have two sons, Donald and Robert, at home. Mr. and Mrs. Winters have lived in Mansfield for the past 22 years and they were residents of Ashland previously.

The evening was spent in games and contests. Prizes were won by Mrs. Martin Winters, Mrs. Fred Mours, Mrs. Ray Winters and Rufus Brubaker. The honorees were the recipients of a number of gifts of silver.

Out-of-town guests were present from Buffalo, N. Y., Newark, Lima, Savannah, Ashland and Shenandoah.

MISS KAUFMAN WILL BE MARRIED EARLY IN MAY

To Become Bride of Ivan C. Bettiker, Cleveland; Engagement Announced at Tea Given By Bride-to-Be's Mother Saturday.

THE approaching marriage of Miss Mary Lou Kaufman was disclosed Saturday afternoon at a tea given by her mother, Mrs. L. W. Kaufman, at the Women's Club. Miss Kaufman, who is a graduate of Mansfield high school, will become the bride of Ivan C. Bettiker, Cleveland, May 7.

Announcement was made to the 42 guests by means of colored Easter eggs disclosing the names and date. The tea table was decorated with yellow tapers and centered with a yellow and blue centerpiece. Miss Ruth Whorl and Mrs. L. W. Kaufman, jr., presided at the table.

Out-of-town guests present included Mrs. O. J Bettiker and daughter, Justine, mother and sister of the bridegroom-to-be; Mrs. Burlin Shenberger, Ashland, and Miss Whorl, Akron.

The ceremony will be read at the Methodist Episcopal church at Leroy. Miss Kaufman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman, 66 Herman avenue, and Mr. Bettiker is the son of Mrs. Bettiker, Warren.

Miss Kaufman is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and Mr. Bettiker is a graduate of Warren high school and attended Western Reserve university.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crain and sons, Richard and George, of Detroit and Mrs. M. M. Smith and daughter, Anita, of Wooster, were the week-end guests of Mrs. Crain's and Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carroll, 385 West Fifth street.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT, if you are cross, lifeless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure.

Why not try LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND?

Suggests Ways To Make Friends

By VIRGINIA LEE

An unusually pathetic letter from a lonely girl has just reached me. We who have plenty of friends and always have had, wonder what is the reason others do not. It seems the simplest thing in the world to us to make friends and have pals to share our pleasures. Why is it these others do not, and what can be done to help?

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Where and how can a girl make friends quickly to avoid loneliness? I do not seem to know how to make friends or what to do to make people take an interest in me.

"I am 27 . . . People often say to me, 'How is your boy friend?' or kid me along and say, 'A girl like you should have lots of boy friends.' It just breaks my heart that I have none.

"How do other people meet friends? People say I do not go out enough. But how can I go out when I have no one to go with? I can't walk the streets alone. I can't meet anyone that way. I am so tired of being alone. The few girls I knew at school are all married and retired from their positions and it just seems as though they are laughing at me behind my back because I am such a social flop. WEARY."

If I could see you, Weary, and watch you all through a day when you did not know I was around, maybe I could be of more help. I would at least know how you look, how you act and how you mingle with your fellow men — and women.

There are books at your library that migh help you — books on making friends and influencing people, the one of that name being by Dale Carnegie. You have heard of it, of course. There are many others. Why do you not get some and read them? Such books will give you confidence.

Then why not join the Y. W. C. A. of you are a Protestant, or the equivalent group in the Catholic church? Every church has its group of young people, and if you join and offer to work in whatever way you can, that is an excellent way to make friends. Have you a hobby? Do you like to walk? Almost every community has a group of hikers, and you can join the group, even if you are a perfect stranger, and meet young people of both sexes who like to do the things you do.

Another thing, you surely know one girl or young woman who, even if she has a boy friend, has some evenings free so that she could go with you to a concert, a show or something. Don't be afraid to ask her to go somewhere with you. She may not be able to accept your first invitation, but ask here again. Invite two or three people to your home, even if they seem only casual acquaintances. Try not to feel sorry for yourself, but have faith that you CAN make friends and have a good time. There are many women your age who are in need of friends, just as you are. Maybe you can find them and be pals with them. Write me again and let me know how you are coming along.

Which Couple Are You?

They're classmates in high school but you'd never know it.

At the country club, Connie leaps out of the car like a little schoolgirl, while Hank looks on indifferently.

How awkwardly they seem, compared to Polly and Don in the background. Polly waits for Don to come around to her side of the car and help her. She knows that well-bred boys expect you to let them open doors, rescue gloves you've dropped, seat you at the table.

Invited to a tennis match, Polly makes a hit by wearing a simple sports suit, remaining correctly silent when the play is going on. While poor Connie looking out of place in dressy afternoon clothes and high-heeled slippers, annoys the other spectators by her noisy chatter.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

THE VOICE of the man on the other side of the restaurant booth partition was querulous, but the voice of his partner in the sinister scheme against Dicky, to which Mary and I had been avidly listening, was authoritative—and contemptuous. There was no doubt in our minds as to the dominance of the feminine half of the scheme over the masculine.

"You poor boob!" she said, not ill-naturedly. "Can you get it through your thick skull that you don't wolf through a feed like this the same way you'd down a plate of frankfurters and beans at a diner? If you're full up, it won't hurt you to smoke a bit while I finish this in peace. If it will be any comfort to you, I can tell you I'm almost through with this, but I won't be hurried over it or my coffee which I see coming."

"I don't want any coffee," the man said sullenly, but patently accepting her ultimatum. "How long will you be?"

"Probably five minutes, maybe six," the woman answered, and Mary glanced inquiringly at me as she put down her own coffee cup.

Detective Leaves.

I nodded assent, and we rose leisurely, were put into our coats by the hovering, attentive waiter, and made our way to the dor.

"Don't look!" Mary adjured me under her breath, "but our friend, the de-tec-a-tuff"—her whisper was an inimitable mimicry of Katie in a secretive mood—"is heading toward the other entrance."

The waiter held open the door with an obesquious little bow, and we passed through, out of earshot, before I answered her.

"He probably thinks he'll round the corner and see what taxi we take," I answered.

"Eggs-zactly," Mary drawled. "I'm going to enjoy his face when we run into that bird head on."

But we did not "run into him head on." Indeed, we did not encounter him at all in our leisurely stroll around the corner, where we found that we could substitute a pretended interest in the wares of an old book shop for a wait for a taxi, which, in all probability, would prove embarrassing because of the plethora of "cruising drivers" passing.

"What d'ye suppose happened to our super sleuth?" Mary quered, and her question was surprisingly answered by the exit of the man from the door of the restaurant, his face a brick red, his gait the hurried one not of pursuit but distinctly indicative of being pursued. That he did not see us as we drew closer to the book shop stalls was evident, and the explanation came an instant later when the restaurant door opened again, erupting a man and a woman, plainly irate, whose voices confirmed my instantaneous conjecture that they were the couple whose sinister colloquy threatening some evil to Dicky we had just overheard.

"Don't you dare to high-hat us, Bill!" the woman said in low tones utterly unlike her usual raucous voice. But there was an unmistakable menace in her voice.

Staves Them Off.

"Remember we've got enough on you—' the man began, also keeping his voice down, and the detective swung round facing them, a man at bay, and willing to parley.

"Listen!" he said imperatively. "I couldn't recognize you in the restaurant—I'll tell you why some other time. And for God's sake, shut up now! You've probably made me lose the dames I'm trailing."

"Okay," the woman said reluctantly. "But don't you pull that stunt again unless you give us the high sign first. It ain't on the free list for you to go swanking us like that."

"All right, all right," the detective replied, edging away, then dashing around the corner to the other entrance of the restaurant. Unobtrusively, Mary and I walked in the other direction, and, so short are the up and down blocks in New York, we were able to round the next corner and get into a taxi fortuitously waiting there without being observed—or, so we flattered ourselves, by either the detective or the plotters against Dicky.

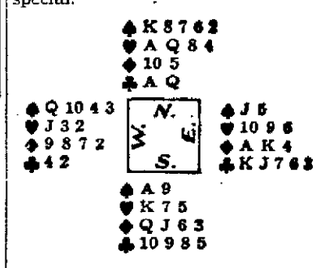
"The Authority on Authorities"

RISKY BUSINESS

FALSE CARDING by the defensive side is hazardous stuff in most cases, as it involves the possible danger of fooling your partner more decisively than the declarer. But it it looks as though the enemy can make his contract against all ordinary obstacles, the only thing to do is try something special.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable).

After a spade bid by North, South responded with 1-No Trump, and after 2-Hearts by North, South jumped to 3-No Trumps.

When the diamond 2 was led by West, East won with the A, and before returning the suit figured that by laying down the K and a small one, South would cash at least one diamond and possibly two, and from there on make game. A slight variation he figured might fool his partner, but that was not of any great importance in view of the number of high cards held by the opponents.

Instead of the K, East returned the diamond 4, which was won in dummy with the 10. The spade 2 was led and won with the A, followed by the spade 9 to East's J. Now East switched to the heart 10 to dummy's Q. The spade K was cashed and a spade given to West's Q. When the club A and spade 8 were played, South held the K-7 of hearts and the Q-J of diamonds and dummy the A-6-2 of hearts and the club Q. Reading West for the diamond K, declarer read East as having three hearts, so he led the heart A and a heart to the K, then the diamond Q, supposedly to West, who would have had to return a diamond. Instead, East won with the king and cashed the club K.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable).

What defense by East keeps South from making 4-Hearts, the opening lead having been the club K?

Relaxation Induces Sleep

By JULIET SHELBY

(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

ARE YOU AN unintentional night owl? Do you lie awake until the cold gray dawn after you have gone to bed, hoping for a long night's sleep? If this is one of your bugaboos then no wonder you are cross to husband and family in the morning. You just can't help having a grudge against anyone who sleeps like a log.

We don't blame you, but don't keep on being a sour-faced sheep counter. There are lots of things to do about it that are a lot better than just giving in and having a nervous breakdown.

First of all, try to get as much outdoor exercise as you possibly can during the day. Then relax before even thinking of going to bed. This is definitely not the time to have an argument on any subject. Read a light but not exciting book for a few minutes and then have a cup of hot milk, lemonade or other soothing drink.

Now is the time to get undressed leisurely and take a few Orpheus-inducing exercises. They will bring on that blessed drowsiness.

Give yourself a good stretch and relax as completely as possible. You are ready for the exercises now, but remember to take it easy. Do not wake yourself up by being too energetic.

Lift your left arm and let it drop limply with your hand resting just above your head. After a second flop your arm down beside your body with the same relaxation. Lift your right arm in the same way, letting the whole action flow from your relaxed shoulder through your arm to the ends of your fingers. Drop your arm above your head, then down to the right side.

Pull your right knee back to your abdomen, then drop your right foot flat on the bed and slide your leg out full length. Alternate your right and left leg six times each until you feel limp.

Clasp Hands Back of Head.

Clasp your hands back of your head and pull your head forward gently until you feel all that tightness in the back of your neck go. Then let your head drop on the pillow. Do this several times.

Last, with your arms dropped above your head, and bent at the elbows, roll over onto your right side, then fall back into a flat position on your back. Wait a second or two and then roll on your left side and fall back. Do this about six times.

Now, you ought to be ready for some sound sleeping. So forget your worries and remember that life and its problems can always wait for tomorrow.

Household Hints

By MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Pork Roast Apple Sauce
Baked Sweet Potatoes Celery Pickles
Maple Syrup Corn Bread
Fresh Fruit Cup Coffee or Tea

Celery is so good at this season of the year that it can often serve in place of salad, and thus save the cook a good deal of work. I have added pickles to this menu, too, to add more of a crisp and tart taste to the meal.

Today's Recipes.

MAPLE SYRUP CORN BREAD —One and one-eighth cups yellow corn meal, one and one-eighth cups wheat flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup maple syrup, one egg, well beaten; one cup milk, three tablespoons melted shortening. Add shortening to syrup. Mix all ingredients. Pour into shallow, well-greased pan, bake twenty minutes in hot oven. Cut into squares and serve hot.

What's In a Name?

Roux (pronounced r-u-e) is not "something to worry about" — if you know how to make it! It's brown sauce — also called sauce Veloute (velvety sauce) because the browned flour gives a velvety texture to a cooked sauce. To make a Roux, cook one tablespoon minced onion in two tablespoons butter or vegetable shortening until slightly brown. Add one and one-half tablespoons flour and brown. Stir in one cup meat stock, add salt and pepper and stir until thick. Boil three minutes and strain.

Melange: a mixture — usually applied to those mixtures of fruits or vegetables usually called hash.

Macedoine: means cut up or diced. A macedoine of chicken is diced chicken.

To baste: Is not "to sew" in the cook's lexicon. It means to dip liquid upon a food in cooking; poultry or meats are basted with syrups or the juices in the pan. Try basting your baked ham with fresh Florida orange juice to see what basting means.

To toss: To turn and overturn your salad ingredient (lightly) to cover every bit of the salad with the dressing. Try it with cold boiled rice and vegetables, tossed together with French dressing until the rice and vegetables are perfectly blended.

Something New In Meat Dish.

If you tire of the same old foods on your dinner menus day after day, here is something new and different. Lamb shanks stuffed with barley!

Lamb shanks are a decidedly practical meat cut, because while the supply is rather small, the demand is still smaller, so they represent good "buys" on the market, points out Inez S. Wilson, home economist. For stuffing, the shanks are simmered in water until the meat is tender and loosened from the bone. The bones are then removed, and in their place is put cooked and seasoned barley. These are placed in a casserole dish with a very little broth over them and allowed to become thoroughly heated. Serve from the casserole dish while very hot.

These stuffed lamb shanks make the main dish of a really substantial meal. Each shank makes a generous serving for one person. They need be supplemented only with a green vegetable for the complete mai ncourse.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, April 19.

According to the lunar transits on this day, there may be some rather conflicting situations. Opportunities are shown for growth, expansion and enhanced popularity with superiors or influential persons, as well as favorable financial prospects.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may have some very promising conditions during the year, with good opportunities for progress and financial expansion, as well as the support of important personages, friends or employers.

A child born on this day may have a bright, friendly and winsome personality that may gain for it the support of friends and those in power. However, it may also have rather peculiar or irregular traits of character, with tendencies to questionable methods in business.

My Neighbor Says:

April 19 is the day chosen by many gardeners for plowing up gardens and sowing seeds in cold frames.

One-fourth teaspoon of vanilla added to each four cups of milk improves the flavor of hot cocoa or chocolate.

Minced parsley and onion added to cream soups improve their flavor. Dried celery leaves may also be used to flavor soups.

The first gladiolus bulbs should be set out the latter part of April and later plantings should be every two or three weeks until July, in order to have flowers until frost.

Special Menus Suitable For Parties

By PAULINE SCHOFIELD
Home Service Department of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

When April arrives it brings a pleasant confusion of parties, spring weddings, showers—not the rainy kind — and club festivities

Miss Schofield

So here are some recipes you may want to try for your party, such as Orange Pecan Muffins, and a Chicken Mousse Salad. Deviled Eggs in Aspic are one of those dishes that may be prepared in advance and a new Appetizer Plate is as welcome as the robins.

Orange Pecan Muffins.

Temperature, 375° F. Time, 20 minutes.

1¾ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
¾ cup chopped pecan meats

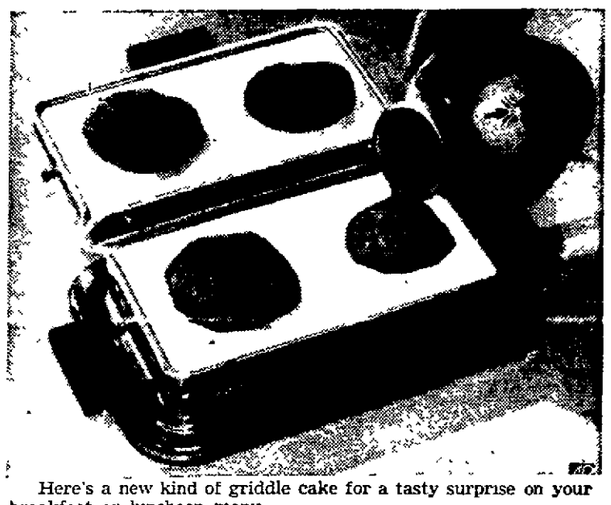
Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Cream the shortening and add the sugar, beat in the egg yolks Add a little of the flour mixture, then the orange juice, and beat; repeat and add milk. Stir in nuts and grated rind. Fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Turn into well-greased muffin tins and bake.

Chicken Mousse Salad.

2 cups diced chicken
¾ cup cut pimiento
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup mayonnaise
1 can sliced pineapple
¾ cup cut celery
2½ tablespoons gelatine
2 cups stock or water
¾ cup heavy cream.
Lettuce leaves

Soak gelatine in one cup of cold stock or water and then add one cup of same, boiling hot. Stir to dissolve, add chicken, celery, pimiento and salt. Let stand until it begins to stiffen. Fold in cream, which has been whipped, and one-half cup of the mayonnaise. Mould in cups or fancy moulds, eight generous or twelve smaller servings. Also this amount fills a ring mould, center to be filled with asparagus tips when served. When firm, arrange lettuce leaves for individual servings, place on each a slice of pineapple, add moulded salad and a small spoonful of mayonnaise.

Griddle Cakes To The Fore



Here's a new kind of griddle cake for a tasty surprise on your breakfast or luncheon menu.

Deviled Eggs in Aspic.

2 shelled hard-cooked eggs
Salt to taste
⅛ tsp. powdered mustard
1 tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. mineral oil
Mayonnaise

Cut the eggs in half lengthwise Remove the yolks and mash with a fork. Add the remaining ingredients to the yolks, and blend to a smooth paste Fill the egg whites with yolk mixture

Aspic.

1½ tablespoons of gelatine
¼ cup of cold water
1½ cups of tomato juice
½ cup of beet juice
¼ cup of chopped celery
Salt Pepper
½ teaspoon of onion juice
2 tablespoons of lemon juice
3 drops of tabasco

Soften gelatin in water. Heat tomato juice and beet juice, add gelatin and dissolve When cool add celery and season to taste.

Place egg halves in shallow pan and pour aspic around eggs When set cut calad so that each square will have an egg in center.

Appetizer Plate.

This plate serves as the first course of a dinner in place of a fruit cocktail. On a glass plate, arrange chilled fruits and refrigerate until serving time.

A pineapple "finger" or spear, as cut lengthwise from the heart of the pineapple and obtainable in cans, the fingers packed as cut from one choice pineapple to fit each can. Small apricots, golden in color, bright red raspberries, balls cut from pears (or cantaloupes, honeydew melon or watermelon), a slice of fresh lime and of lemon to squeeze over the pears and a bright green garnish of watercress complete the plate. Mint leaves are suitable in season A cocktail fork is provided for eating the colorful tidbits.

Chocolate Angel Cake.

½ cup cocoa
⅔ cup flour
1¼ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup egg whites
Few grains salt
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the cocoa, flour, sugar and salt. Beat the egg whites with the few grains of salt and the cold water, until light and firm but not dry. Fold in the sifted dry ingredients and the vanilla Pour into an ungreased angel cake pan and bake at 300° F. about sixty minutes.

Chocolate Cream Filling.

½ cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cocoa
Few grains salt
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1 cup warm milk
1 teaspoon butter
1 tablespoon cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the sugar, cornstarch, cocoa and salt; add the well-beaten egg yolks, and the warm milk. Stir and cook until very thick, remove from fire and add butter, cream, and vanilla. When cold, use to fill center cavity of angel cake.

Chocolate Fudge Frosting.

2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 or 3 tablespoons cream
Walnut meats, broken

Sift together the dry ingredients, add the two-thirds cup of cream, stir and cook to 230° F. (the soft-ball stage when tested in cold water). Remove from fire, let cool thoroughly, add vanilla, beat until thick and creamy, add two or three tablespoons of cream, and pour on to cake. Sprinkle with walnut meats.

Honey Grapenut Crunches.

½ cup oatmeal
½ cup grapenuts
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
1 cup honey
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla

Toast the oatmeal in the oven. Grind the cereals, using a fine knife. Sift the remaining dry ingredients together. Cream the butter, add the honey and cream well. Add the beaten egg and vanilla. Add the cereals, then the flour mixture, and mix well. Store in a cool place overnight. Drop on a greased cooky sheet and flatten with the back of a spoon. Bake at 375° F. for ten minutes.

WHY IS IT?
Year After Year We Sell More and More Gas Refrigerators To People With Less and Less Money To Spend!

Time was when most of the gas refrigerators were sold to people of means — those who wanted the best and were even willing to experiment to get it. In more recent times we are finding that each year we include families in a lower bracket of income than the year before. Today, most of the Servel Electrolux refrigerators go to those who must keep a careful watch on outgoing pennies, dimes and dollars. The reason?

Long ago gas refrigeration ceased to be an experiment in the public's mind. Time proved that the Servel Electrolux would give silent, trouble-free operation at the lowest cost. Families with an eye to the future are discovering that it is not only the most economical refrigerator to operate but, also, the most economical to own.

The gas refrigerator is absolutely silent because it freezes without any moving parts to wear out and make noise. It operates on high grade gas for less than two cents a day. You can pay for it on a budget plan out of the savings it will make for you. Why not visit our display room and inspect the beautiful 1938 models?
